The Federal Diary

President May Push Pay Increase Bill

The drive to raise the salaries of low-paid Federal workers is under way. Chairman Ramspeck of the House Civil Service Committee and Senator Downey have introduced identical bills which would require the Government to pay $300 war bonuses to all employes who earn less than $3000 a year. But much more important is the high-placed report that the President himself will take the lead in the drive by asking Congress to pay overtime after 40 hours to all employes paid $3200 a year and under. The President may send a message to Congress on pay raises, or else write influential members of Congress on the subject.

To be consistent, the President must ask Congress to pay Federal workers time and a half for overtime. However, one of the plans reported to be under consideration at the White House calls for the extension of the Government work week to 48 hours and the payment of straight time for the eight additional hours of work. This would raise the salaries of employes paid $3200 and less by 20 per cent.

The Administration plan will go to Congress this week, it was reported last night. The authority for the Army, Navy and Maritime Commission to pay overtime to all classes of employes will expire on June 30, and action must be taken soon. Government officials are set against continuing the present discriminatory overtime provisions. For example, the Navy pays several thousand of its professional and technical employes here time and a half. The Army has no such authority. Government employes work along side of private employes in war plants who are paid time and a half for overtime. These workers are quitting by the thousands to take private jobs despite the fact that the salaries of the Government and private war worker alike come from the Federal Treasury.

Any move by members of Congress to raise the salaries of Federal workers will be met with the charge that wage increases are against the President's policy. That is why the President's advisers are urging him to take the lead in the drive and to call the attention of Congress to the fact that the base salaries of Federal workers have remained untouched despite the fact that the cost of living has skyrocketed. In his anti-inflation speech, the President did point out that wage inequalities would be corrected. The Government's policy is bonuses in wartime and pay cuts in depressions. During World War I $240 bonuses were paid to employes making less than $2750. All employes got pay cuts in 1933. Now, the President's advisers feel, it is time for an adjustment upward.

Downey Urges Probe

Chairman Ramspeck said his committee would open hearings soon on his bill and any other pay raise measure. Senator Downey said he had been informed that Federal workers are quitting by the hundreds for better-paying jobs in industry. He believes the Senate Civil Service Committee should investigate the entire subject of pay raises, cost of living and working conditions. He says his bill could be used as a vehicle for such an inquiry. Per diem and hourly employes also would be given pay raises under the Remspeck-Downey bill.

General counsel for the manpower commission will be either hard-hitting Ed Pritchard or Nathan Greene, a New York lawyer who is backed by left-wing elements . . . Farm Credit employes who will be moving to Kansas City over the week-end will be able to buy all the gas they need if they make the trip by auto. FCA is giving its employes advances on the $75 per diem each employe will receive . . . The 150 employes of the Credit Union Division still don't know where they are to be moved.

Civil Service is making a drive to recruit punch card operators within a 50-mile radius of Washington. Starting salary is $1260. Applicants must be 18. There is no maximum age limit . . . The Tydings Committee is making a survey of photographic and duplicating equipment and the volume of material turned out in the Federal service. A preliminary report shows the equipment is not fully utilized and the committee is likely to suggest that some of it in peace-time agencies be turned over to the war agencies . . . Next to Hollywood, the Government is the largest movie producer. Its movie printing contract expires soon and movie concerns are fighting for it.

WHITE SPOTS IN THE DARK—These air-raid wardens of the Lincoln Park area appeared for duty last night wearing new white, all-steel helmets. Left to right—R. P. MacDougal, W. L. Wade, zone warden; L. A. Lyman, sector warden, and Pat Evans, read written instructions for a test problem brought to Lyman by Wade. The wardens went through simulated raid work and reported their findings to the Kingman School, headquarters for the area

Coordinator John Russell Young, reported he was convinced by the trial that communications would have to be decentralized.

This was recommended after the last complete blackout April 14 by National Director James M. Landis of the Office of Civilian Defense.

Landis on Scene

Landis, who again inspected last night's operations, reported the center required 14 minutes each to handle what few directives to emergency units it was able to transmit, while an efficient control center should be able to do the job in three minutes.

A blackout tragedy that was not simulated occurred in Southeast Washington when Joseph W. Crouch, 55, dropped dead, apparently of a heart attack, as he stepped from his automobile in front of his home at 1329 Potomac Avenue during the test.

Police hurrying to the scene in answer to a radio call of a woman screaming found his wife in the darkened street, beside Crouch's prostrate body. She told them she and her husband, a pipefitter at the Navy Yard, had just returned from an Eastern Star meeting and had been caught in the blackout.

A siren at the Navy Yard had plunged the Southeast section into darkness at the alert signal one-half hour before the official blackout signal, and protective services manned their posts for twice the length of the test elsewhere.

At the same time sections of Northeast Washington also were blacked out.

Premature Sounding

In the latter section the Lincoln Park area was darkened by the navy yard horn and the wardens were responding to the hypothetical incidents put to them.

W. M. Mannif of the forty-sixth sector was given a report that a theater on Fifteenth Street between F and Rosedale Streets Northeast had received a devastating bombing. Mannif got the news through to the Lincoln Park model control center, after first trying to get in touch with the metropolitan Washington control center at MacMillan Reservoir.

The area control dispatched imaginary ambulances, rescue squads, feeding and medical units to dig "the victims" from the debris and to relieve those still alive.

An enemy bomber was supposed to have crashed on the edge of Lincoln Park. The enemy pilots blew up the plane. B. F. Welles, warden of the twenty-third sector reported the incident, and recommended that only police would be required there, to keep the crowds back and to intern the enemy pilots.

Theoretical Gas Attack

The whole area between F and G, Fourteenth and Florence Streets Northeast was theoretically gassed. The Lincoln Control Center called into the main Control Center for decontamination squads, and ordered the entire sector blocked off.

The blackout, even though it lasted twice as long in this area as in others, was considered "eminently successful" by Deputy Air Raid Warden Fred Armstrong. It was in the nature of a farewell party for Armstrong who resigned yesterday to enter the Air Corps. He will be succeeded by Joseph M. Esse, 1325 Maryland Avenue Northeast, who has been serving as Armstrong's assistant deputy.

In Takoma Park, Md., several persons were "injured" in a simulated bomb explosion on the grounds of the Washington Sanitarium. Members of the Seventh Day Adventist Medical Corps treated the "wounded."

In addition, there was a simulated incendiary fire on the sanitarium grounds, which was quickly extinguished by the fire brigade.

At Gaithersburg, Md., something went wrong with the fire station siren and it wheezed to a stop in the midst of the warning signal.

Soldiers Tell Families Hello From Australia on Broadcast

The American Red Cross is cooperating with the Australian Broadcasting Commission and the Mutual Broadcasting System in conducting a daily radio program of personal messages from American troops stationed in Australia to their families in the United States, Chairman Norman H. Davis announced yesterday.

The programs, which bring the voices of the men of the American forces in Australia into thousands of homes in this country, are carried over most Mutual affiliated stations daily at 11:15 a. m., (E.W.T.).

Unique in the history of the Red Cross, the new project assists the Red Cross in carrying out its obligation under Congressional charter to act as a medium of communication between the men of the armed forces and their families, Chairman Davis said.

As a souvenir of the broadcasts, the American Red Cross sends individual records of each service man's message to his family. The records are suitable for replaying on phonographs.

Under the new plan, the messages of the service men are transcribed by the Australian Broadcasting Commission at camps and bases in Australia. They are reviewed by Army censors and radioed by shortwave to the United States where transcriptions are made by the Mutual Broadcasting System. The transcriptions are rebroadcast over the Mutual System.

The master recording of the broadcast is rushed to Red Cross headquarters in Washington where it is recorded on the individual records for the families of the men.

Thomas was rushed to Georgetown Hospital, where his condition last night was described as undetermined.

Community War Fund Gets Support

Chest Trustees, U. S. O. Board Agree To Program for Consolidated Drive

Establishment of a Community War Fund was approved yesterday by trustees of the Community Chest and the U. S. O. Council of Washington.

Their action, taken at separate meetings, makes it virtually certain that a consolidated campaign will be conducted here this fall. It would include the Community Chest and all war-connected appeals that choose to participate.

Sidney F. Taliaferro, chairman, said the local U. S. O. council "heartily and unanimously" indorsed the suggestion of a joint campaign for 1943. The plan has the approval of the Board of Trade and the District Commissioners.

He indicated that there will be no separate U. S. O. drive in Washington. A national campaign for 32 million dollars was launched Monday and will be continued until July 4.

At the Community Chest trustees meeting, Herbert L. Willett, jr., director, stressed the advantages of a single drive. It would, he asserted, conserve time and energy of volunteers, prevent overlapping and duplication of appeals, eliminate overhead expenses and result in the raising of more money.

He reported that united war funds are being formed in 76 cities. Boston, Rochester and Norfolk already have completed their campaigns with successful results, and Pasadena, Calif., and Cincinnati are in the midst of theirs, Willett said.

"If Washington launches a Community War Fund in the fall it will fit into the time when the attention of the whole Nation will be focused on war chests throughout the country," Willett told the trustees.

He was supported by Coleman Jennings, president of the Washington Community Chest.

The budget committee recommended that funds be withheld for blacking out member agencies completely, advocating instead a policy by which appropriations would be granted "only to black out a space sufficiently large to seat comfortably all people in the agency during an unannounced blackout."

Mrs. Thompson Renamed President By Circle Citizens

Mrs. Ella M. Thompson of 1120 Rhode Island Avenue Northwest, who in 1925 became the first woman president of a District citizens' association, was reelected president of the Logan - Thomas Circle Citizens Association last night for the sixteenth consecutive time.

Mrs. Thompson, a native Washingtonian, is a graduate of Notre Dame Academy. She has taught Sunday school in Washington for 35 years and has been a piano teacher for 40 years.

Other officers elected were William E. Baker, vice president; Kenneth C. Robbins, secretary, and Frank M. Thompson, treasurer. Mrs. Frank M. Thompson was appointed chairman of the "Bundles for America" committee.

A motion was adopted requesting William A. Van Duzer, District director of vehicles and traffic, to adjust the time of the traffic lights at Scott Circle.

Penny Milk This Summer May Hinge on Agriculture Dept. Bill

Continuation of "penny milk" during the summer months for the benefit of Washington's undernourished children probably depends upon the size of the Agriculture Department's pending appropriations bill, it appeared yesterday.

Harry M. Gardner, WPA disbursing officer for the District, said he is drafting a proposed summer program so that no time need be lost if Agriculture decides it has sufficient funds to continue milk distribution beyond June 30, when present contracts expire.

He revealed that 512,065 half-pints were distributed free during April among pupils of 64 schools and children attending seven settlement houses. Since there were only 15 school days in April, the average was in excess of 34,000 bottles daily.

According to the Agriculture Department, which subsidizes the "penny milk" program nationally, 1,700,000 boys and girls in 86 cities, towns and counties are now receiving the milk. In some places the youngsters pay the penny and elsewhere, including the District, this portion of the cost is borne by the local government.

No Cash in Sight For Pay Increase, Mason Asserts

The District has no funds for the three million dollar pay increases to municipal employes making less than $3000, as provided by the Downing bill introduced in the Senate today, Commissioner Guy Mason reported last night.

An estimated 12,000 workers in the District government would be affected if the bill is passed. This includes some per diem employes, but the increase would be prorated for them, under the terms of the bill.

"If the District has to foot the bill for its employes—and there is no reason to believe that it wouldn't—then I'm opposed to it," Mason said. "We have no funds for it now, and we could not increase the budget to take care of it."

30% of D.C.'s New Arrivals Bring Family

Relation to House Problem Shown In Figures on War Workers

Approximately 30 per cent of the 39,000 persons who came to Washington for war jobs since January 1 brought their families with them, according to Bureau of Labor statistics.

A Senate Appropriations subcommittee this week asked the National Housing Agency for figures on the number of families among the newcomers, declaring the information received would have a bearing on the amount of money approved for emergency housing in the metropolitan area.

The House last week cut the amount of the housing appropriation from 50 million dollars authorized to $29,500,000—thus eliminating the construction of 4000 family units. The need for these units was not clearly established, it was declared.

Senator McKellar (Democrat)—of Tennessee, chairman of the subcommittee now considering the appropriations declared after hearings a few days ago that the Senate's action in restoring the cut would be governed by the need that could be shown. He said the percentage of families coming would be "material evidence."

Administrator John B. Blandford, jr., of the National Housing Agency, has declared the proposed 4000 units would not cover the need and has said he would ask for funds to construct an additional 6000 units.

Both Senate and House are agreed that 15,000 dormitory units should be constructed for single war workers.

Suicide of Woman, 73, Here Laid to Ill Health

Despondency over ill health due to a nervous disorder was blamed last night for the suicide of Miss Martha Simonds, 73, of 1329 North Carolina Avenue Northeast.

The aged woman who lived alone was found in the gas-filled kitchen of her home shortly after noon yesterday by her sister, Mrs. Amy King, of 327 Rittenhouse Street Northwest, and the latter's son, Willard King, jr., who reportedly broke a window to gain entrance. Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald certified the death to be a suicide.

Producers Oddly Ignore Bargain Day on the Lot

William Saroyan Sees a Deadline Slip Past; New Behrman Comedy to Star the Lunts; Items of News and Gossip of the Theater

"HE SUTTINLY DO recommen' hisse'f mos' highly!" That, of course, was the comment of an aged darky after listening to one of Teddy Roosevelt's campaign speeches for the Presidency, but it might apply equally to Mr. William Saroyan, self-nominated "genius" of the theater.

ED WYNN

Mr. Saroyan, it seems, a week ago walked off the M-G-M lot—where he had been welcomed as the fair-haired boy—because the company refused to let him produce and direct "The Human Comedy," which he had written. So he offered to sell his new one to them sight unseen. He reputedly wrote the studio that it could have his new play for a mere $250,000, or some such trifle.

"After New York production," he is said to have written from his home in San Francisco, "the play will be offered to the highest bidder over and above the established minimum of $300,000." This is a sum approximately twice as large as any ever paid for an original screen play.

Saroyan concluded by saying he believes that in all probability this new play, "Get Away Old Man," would win both the Pulitzer Prize and the Drama Critics Circle Award. Somehow, M-G-M let the deadline slip by without taking Mr. Saroyan up on his generous gesture.

He didn't do so badly during his brief whirl in Culver City, at that. M-G-M paid him $60,000 for his first screen play and he had the time of his life directing one of their short subjects.

The air has been full of so many of a number of things about the Boris Karloff company, still playing Broadway in "Arsenic and Old Lace," that Washington has sort of lost track of the troupe coming into the National Monday for a fortnight's stay in the Joseph Kesselring comedy. This, then, will be the twenty-second city this season visited by the cast headed by Laura Hope Crews, Effie Shannon, Erich von Stroheim, Jack Whiting and Forrest Orr, former member of the National Theater Players. Starting in New Haven in mid-September, it has ranged from Boston to Tulsa, Okla., and from Minneapolis to New Orleans, with every "stand" clamoring for a return engagement. When the New York company tours to the West Coast, it will be this one that will take its place on Broadway.

And Speaking of Next Season—

S. N. Behrman has completed a new and as yet untitled comedy which will be presented by the Playwrights' Company and the Theater Guild early next season, with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne starred. Rehearsals are expected to begin in mid-September, with an out of town opening prior to the Broadway premiere—in Washington I hope, I hope, I hope. The new play will employ a cast of 30 actors, some of whom will be colored, and will be produced under the joint directorial supervision of Mr. Lunt and John C. Wilson. Incidental music will be written for the piece by Kurt Weill, who did "Knickerbocker Holiday" with Maxwell Anderson for the Playwrights. It was John C. Wilson, in case you had forgotten, who produced Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit," one of this season's instant hits. In the meantime, having signed the contracts in New York last Thursday, Mr. Lunt and Miss Fontanne will be summering at their home in Genesee Depot, Wis.

He was doing a few time steps in the middle of the car tracks at Fourteenth and the Avenue Monday evening, eyeing the lights and wondering which meant what and where to go when, as he caught our eye—or vice versa. Having a rabbit's foot in his pocket and a horseshoe in each hand, he reached the curb one whisk ahead of a fender. "Careful, young fellow, you're in a big city now," he was admonished. "Oh, hello. Yeah, now I know what they mean by 'skip the gutter.' No, don't mind at all. I'm here on a mission. Something I thought might interest the USO—and it did." Maybe my hearing is bad. "Oh, so you got your commission!" Complete contempt. "I said 'mission,' not 'commission.' I'm too young for the commission business, you know that." And so on and so forth, for 10 minutes, give or take a minute. So before long, probably, the boys in the camps will be laughing their heads off at Ed Wynn. "I was the Government's guinea pig the first time, when actors had to play out in open fields with the audience spreading out a mile in every direction," he was saying. "Now I'd like to see what it's like in one of the camp theaters erected largely at my suggestion. So long. Glad you recognized me. Nobody does."

Well, of all things! "When little men shall talk of peace, their foreign guard shall betray a fortress." This amazing prediction of the treacherous Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor—it could have been that—made by the prophet Nostradamus, some 400 years ago, is one of the highlights of Carey Wilson's third short screen subject based upon the writings of the famous seer. Under the title of "Further Prophcies of Nostradamus," this M-G-M Miniature will have its first Washington showings at Loew's Palace, come Thursday.

Hollywod, Calif., May 12.—Theodore Dreiser was so pleased with the way Twentieth Century-Fox handled "My Gal Sal" that he's done a complete about-face, and now all his books are up for sale for the movies, among them being "The Genius," which should be a natural at the present moment. And maybe they could secure the services of that genius, presently unemployed, Bill Saroyan, to star in it. That would make quite a nice, modest duo—Dreiser and Saroyan—and would really give Hollywood something to shoot at. And I mean "shoot at."

Charlotte's song, "Old Man's Darling" is being whistled by the entire company. Seems to be the hit of the show.

All Is Bustle When Miss Lane Tries to Sit Down on the Set!

By Frederick C. Othman

United Press Hollywood Correspondent

Hollywood, May 12.—Say a beautiful blonde in the movies, like Priscilla Lane, is wearing a bustle. She starts to ease herself down on a chair. Gently.

"What is going to happen into the bustle?

That is the question which faces Miss Lane every time she starts to seat herself. Gently.

One of two things is bound to occur:

1. The bustle collapses on a system of springs and hinges and Miss Lane smiles sweetly into the cameras of Director Lloyd Bacon.

2. The bustle doesn't collapse, but the system does. Miss Lane gets stabbed.

These and other facts of an equally startling nature we learned on the set of "Silver Queen," where the bustled Miss Lane made eyes at such worthies of the last century (in stovepipe hats) as George Brent, Bruce Cabot, Lynne Overman and Gene Pallette. The time was 1875 and the bustle was a menace.

So, in fact was every last stitch Miss Lane had on.

There was, for instance, the spangled dress which fitted over the bustle. It was a beauty, without shoulder straps. Without much of any top at all.

"They must have been funny people in 1875," Miss Lane said. "They wouldn't think of showing an ankle. But the neckline! It even makes me blush."

She blushed very nicely, too. Pink as far as the eye could see.

And what made what-there-was-of-that-bodice stay put? Steel stays did it, Miss Lane said. She was certain about it, because they poked her. Underneath this, she said, was a kind of a cast-iron union suit to give her a waistline.

Around the waist was a cord, she continued, to which were attached pads to make her hips look bigger. The pads fitted under the bustle.

Miss Lane also had on four petticoats and gold shoes with heels 5 inches high. She couldn't walk in comfort. She couldn't sit down, except when ordered to by the script. She couldn't even eat a full meal. She had to consume small amounts of food, frequently.

Only concession Producer Harry Sherman made for his suffering star was a leaning board. That's exactly what it was. It was a board and it leaned at an angle of 60 degrees. Miss Lane could ease up to it, backwards, and lean at the same angle. This took part of the load off her feet, eased the poking of those stays and made it unnecessary for her to experiment with the machinery inside the bustle.

It was, she said, a boon.

We passed her the smelling salts and got out of there before she fainted.

Words to the Wise

JESSE JONES: Chaim Weizmann, the Zionist leader who arrived here recently, has a new synthetic-rubber process . . . It was Weizmann who, after contributing important chemical processes to Britain during the last war, was offered a peerage by Lord Balfour. He refused it, in return for the promise to open up Palestine . . . JOE KENNEDY: Lew Douglas, the former director of the budget, now is the foremost contender for the job of Shipping Commissioner . . . COL. WILLIAM J. DONOVAN: Japan's Lord Haw-Haw, who broadcasts in English from Tokyo, tentatively has been identified as George Gorman. The other English commentator from Tokyo is Emil Masatomi, who studied at the University of Washington. He's the columnist for "Nichi Nichi."

ROSALIND RUSSELL

NORMAN CORWIN: The Rockefeller Committee may adapt your radio series, "This Is War," into movie shorts for distribution throughout South America . . . DISTRICT ATTORNEY O'DWYER: At the $25-a-plate deficit dinner in honor of LaGuardia, the Mayor confessed: "I discovered that, after the campaign, this committee had a deficit of $59,000. Frankly, the Mayoralty isn't worth it" . . . JIM LANDIS: On June 13 we're going to have a "New York at War" parade. It will last for 12 hours and will be as long as the famous NRA parade—which was the longest in the city's history . . . MGM: Your former employe, Lieut. Jimmy Stewart, made the commentary for the air force's newest movie. It will be called "Getting Your Wings."

DRAMATISTS GUILD: John Roeburt wrote "Appalachian Trail," and wanted to advertise it in the Times. It was refused because the author described the play as one which orings "'Idiot's Delight' right up to date and hoists Steinbeck's moon back into the firmament" . . . MAJ. ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT: The promotion of your brother, James, is expected to come through this week . . . ASCAP: At the request of the Marine Corps to help its aviation enlistment drive, Oscar Hammerstein has written a new lyric for the "Marines' Hymn." Kate Smith is expected to introduce it from Quantico next Sunday.

RESTAURATEURS ASSOCIATION: Leo Lindy discovered that he was to be portrayed in the radio show, "Celebrity Theater," and volunteered to play the role himself. He was rejected, and was told: "We want an actor to play Lindy" . . . POLICE COMMISSIONER VALENTINE: The President of Peru will visit New York on Thursday . . . AMPA: The movie theaters are helping establish "Divide and Conquer" as the most successful publication ever issued by the Government. Thirty-three Midwest theaters—and now the Roxy in New York—are distributing copies by means of notices on the screen, suggesting: "Do You Want to Know What Hitler Would Like You to Do? Then get a copy in the lobby."

MAYOR EDWARD KELLY: The sponsors of the United Nations exhibition—but little of it remains. A sizable portion was grabbed by souvenir hunters, after the plane landed . . . DEPARTMENT OF MOTOR VEHICLES: When Marines in Virginia get their drivers' licenses, the paper now attests: "Good only in the State of Virginia, Berlin, Rome and Tokyo" . . . ALIEN PROPERTY CUSTODIAN: Friends of Max Schmeling are checking on a report that Schmeling has $30,000 secreted here.

GEORGE BRENT: Col. William J. Donovan, whose role you portrayed in "The Fighting 69th," has returned to Washington to resume his duties—after being incapacitated these past few weeks as a result of an auto crackup . . . 5TH AVE. ASSN.: The night-club drunks who, who at 3 a. m., were startled when they thought they saw a herd of elephants walking slowly up Fifth Avenue, weren't imagining things. They really were elephants—from the Ringling circus—being moved from Madison Square Garden, after last night's closing show . . . DONALD M. NELSON: The Army officials, who send morale-boosters to munitions factories, have discovered that the most welcome speech was the short one made by a lieutenant colonel who, dispensing with niceties, told them: "We need guns, and you soandsos are going to give 'em to us."

USO: Rosalind Russell, who is touring the Army camps, tells the soldiers: "My brother is in uniform, and I hear from him every week without fail. After all, how far can he get on $21 a month?" . . . LAWRENCE BEALL SMITH: The Treasury Department will concentrate on your "Don't Let the Shadow Touch Them" bondposter, which shows children playing on a bright field of grass, behind which is a field withered by the shadow of the swastika . . . CORDELL HULL: Last Thursday, when Washington's planes were grounded, a young distinguished-looking man was given a slip of paper transferring his reservation to a waiting train. The conductor examined the paper, and said: "What kind of a name is this 'Otto of Austria'? This is no good without a second name" . . . "Hapsburg," said the passenger. The satisfied conductor wrote the name "Otto of Austria Hapsburg."

Bill Would Require Registration of Unions

Senator Robert R. Reynolds (Democrat) of North Carolina, chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, yesterday filed a bill in the Senate to require Federal registration of labor unions.

The measure would compel labor organizations to file with the Secretary of Labor the names of their officers, salaries paid to them, votes by which they were elected; dues and assessments received and expenditures.

Labor unions would be forbidden by the bill from employing aliens as officers or agents. Specifically barred as officers or agents would be Communists, Fascists or members of any Nazi bund.

Allen to Leave Soon On Mission in Eire

Former District Commissioner George E. Allen will leave Washington soon to study medical needs of refugee civilians in Eire, as head of a special mission for the American Red Cross, it was announced yesterday.

Allen, now special assistant to Red Cross Chairman Norman H. Davis, and the other member of the mission, Dr. Daniel P. O'Brien of the Rockefeller Foundation, who is in London will confer with the Irish Red Cross and Irish officials, about sending needed medical supplies to Eire, Davis said.

Prado Amazed On Visit to War Plants in Detroit

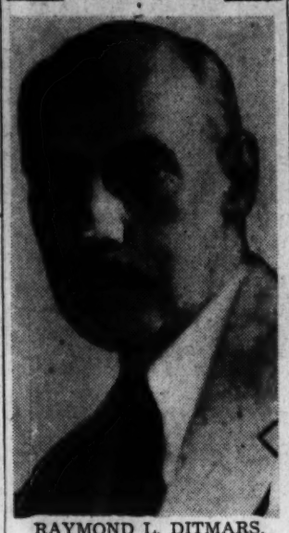
Detroit, May 12 (AP).—President Manuel Prado of Peru stood in amazement today as he saw American production forging the implements of war with precision and speed.

The Peruvian chief executive, following inspection tours of a bomber plant, an aircraft engine factory, a tank arsenal and a proving ground, said "the grandoise spectacle of war production has strengthened my faith in the triumph of the Democratic cause."

As the President and his party moved through the various plants in a clatter of industrial sounds—steel presses pounding, riveting machines chattering and countless machines humming—he saw, during the busy day, over 100,000 intent workmen fashioning and finishing the materials of war.

Scientist Passes

Dr. Ditmars, Noted Reptile Expert, Dies



RAYMOND L. DITMARS,

By the Associated Press

New York, May 12.—Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, the man who popularized the lowly snake so that the public could face one without flinching, died today.

The curator of reptiles at the Bronx Zoo had been ill in St. Luke's Hospital for three months. The cause of death was not announced, but hospital authorities said it was not connected with his work.

He spent most of his 65 years befriending the snake and chasing superstition out of his garden of reptiles. If he wasn't up at the Zoo explaining what was new in the animal kingdom he was probably off in South America chasing down a bushmaster.

Dr. Ditmars eschewed showmanship, but the very nature of his life work resulted in some amazing moments. In March, 1931, he was confronted with the problem of transferring a 14-foot king cobra, largest of poisonous snakes, to the National Zoo in Washington. He finally solved the matter by taking a Pullman berth for himself and the cobra—and delivering his quarry in person.

Spiked Tall Stories

He obtained great satisfaction in brushing off the incredulous tales with which an incredulous public showered him. Examples:

He denied as "absolutely impossible" the alleged existence for 31 years of a horned toad sealed in a courthouse corner stone once reported from Texas.

He labeled the rattlesnake's poison as "paralyzing, not necessarily killing."

And he warned people against emulating a North Carolina preacher who said he let a rattler bite him so that he could be cured by faith.

"More likely a good constitution," Dr. Ditmars said dryly.

Few men could emulate Dr. Ditmars as a stalker of the bushmaster, most deadly of the poison-bearing snakes.

Found Parasol Ants

Every time he returned from his strange trips into the South, he came back with the queer members of the animal kingdom: The parasol ants—little fellows trotting back and forth bearing delicate rose petals above them as parasols; the vampire bats which he proved do not kill or even suck blood; the tadpoles that grow smaller as they grow olders; the spear nose bats.

He was born in Newark, N. J., and at 20 he was lecturing before New York's board of education. He was a science reporter on the New York Times and then, in July, 1899, became curator of reptiles at the Bronx Zoo.

Dr. Ditmars leaves his wife, the former Clara E. Hurd, whom he married in 1903, and two daughters, Mrs. John Stanchfield of Larchmont, N. Y., and Miss Gladdys Ditmars of Scarsdale.

Services for Dean Phillips To Be Conducted at 2 Today

Honorary Senatorial pallbearers for the funeral of the Very Rev. ZeBarney T. Phillips, Senate chaplain and dean of Washington Cathedral, today at 2 p. m., were announced yesterday.

They will be Senators Carter Glass (Democrat), Virginia; Bennett C. Clark (Democrat), Missouri; Warren R. Austin (Republican), Vermont, and Robert A. Taft (Republican), Ohio.

The vestry of Epiphany Church, where Dean Phillips was rector for 17 years, and lay members of the Washington Cathedral Chapter, also will be honorary pallbearers.

Meanwhile, the Washington Federation of Churches, in which Dean Phillips was actively interested and of which he was once vice president, yesterday adopted a resolution upon his death.

'Titanic Loss'

The resolution, copies of which have been sent to Mrs. Phillips, the Dean's wife, and to the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, said in part:

"The Washington Federation of Churches on May 12 asked the undersigned committee to express to you the great admiration in which we held Dr. Phillips, to offer sincere sympathy and earnest assurance of our prayers and to affirm the titanic loss suffered by the whole Christian enterprise in his passing.

"He was a giant in friendship, a comrade in discipleship, a poet and a prophet in preaching, and a spiritual pole star for all his brethren.

"He gave outstanding leadership to churches in his pulpits in several large cities and everywhere endeared himself both to his own community and in the larger fellowship of interdenominational cooperation.

"'Recently his broad spirit was shown in the arrangements for the cathedral services, one each month, jointly sponsored by the Federation of Churches and the cathedral."

Bishop to Conduct Rites

Funeral services will be conducted by Bishop Freeman at 2 p. m. in the cathedral. Mount St. Albans. His body will lie in state in the Chapel of Joseph of Arimathaea at to 1 p. m. Cremation will follow, and the remains will be held for a private service later. After the private rites, the ashes will be placed in a sub-crypt under the Chapel of Joseph of Arimithea at the cathedral.

The choral society of Washington Cathedral, which was organized last fall—largely through Dean Phillips' efforts—will dedicate tonight's rendition of Verdi's Requiem Mass to his memory.

3 Die in Crash Of Airliner; Hero Saves 11

By the Associated Press

Miles City, Mont., May 12.—A quick-thinking Army sergeant saved his own and ten other lives today in the crash of a Northwest Airlines transport which fatally injured three airline pilots.

SHANK

Overshooting the airport, the plane smashed into a ravine half a mile beyond the airfield and burst into flames.

As soon as it came to rest, Sergeant Carl Dinius of Miles City battered through a window while Lieut. Albert Allen of Cottage Grove, Oreg., and two civilian passengers pushed at the plane's jammed door.

From the outside, Sergt. Dinius was able to open the door. Lieut. Allen pushed through and with Stewardess Lois Hallan of Aitkin, Minn., helped all the passengers out.

Capt. Eugene S. Shank, about 34, of Minneapolis, pilot of the Minneapolis-to-Seattle plane, died of a skull fracture. First officer Donald Harold Nygren, 21, of St. Paul, was trapped and burned to death in the pilot's cabin.

Capt. K. R. Martin of Seattle, a third Northwest Airlines pilot aboard the craft, died of burns five hours after the crash.

Lieutenant Allen, an antiaircraft officer en route home from his South Carolina camp, tried to get into the plane's nose to reach Nygren, but the flames drove him back.

[Passengers and witnesses said Shank, who had taken over the controls from Martin as the plane neared Miles City, circled the airfield three times before attempting the landing, the United Press reported. It was apparent he feared a crash, since he dumped gasoline from the plane's tanks in an effort to avert fire.

[Although Shank's action did not keep the plane from burning, passengers believed it probably prevented an explosion which might have resulted in further casualties.]

FWA Official Dampens Hopes For 100-Bed Hospital in Md.

Baird Snyder, assistant administrator of the Federal Works Agency, last night told Bethesda-Chevy Chase residents who have been campaigning for a community hospital that the wartime shortage of construction material would prevent the building of an elaborate structure.

As a matter of fact, Snyder said, the residents might have to be satisfied with a 1½ story frame structure instead of the 100-bed institution they have been seeking.

Snyder spoke at a mass meeting in the Deland Junior High School, Chevy Chase, under auspices of the Hospital Association of Bethesda-Chevy Chase. Brig. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, FWA administrator, was to have spoken but could not keep the engagement because of doctor's orders.

Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the United States, pointed out hospital needs in Washington are acute and further influx of warworkers is making the condition worse. He also declared that neither money nor material is available now for monumental buildings.

Jury Chosen To Try Model In N. Y. Killing

By the Associated Press

New York, May 12.—Selection of a jury to decide the fate of Madeline Webb, 28-year-old model, Eli Shonbrun and John D. Cullen, charged with the strangulation slaying of Mrs. Susan Flora Reich, was completed today before Judge Jonah J. Goldstein in general sessions court.

Court was recessed briefly during the afternoon session when Miss Webb, who had appeared pale and extremely nervous, suffered from a stomach indisposition. A physician from the district attorney's office administered bicarbonate of soda and Miss Webb recovered quickly.

When the last juror was chosen, all three defendants relaxed noticeably. James Springer, Stillwater, Okla., lawyer, who came here to help defend the Oklahoma-born model, smiled reassuringly at the pallid girl.

During the day, the dark-haired Miss Webb had passed frequent notes to the 33-year-old Shonbrun, alleged by the State to be her lover, and they had exchanged several smiles. Outside the courtroom, in one recess, the two embraced and kissed.

"Don't forget I love you," Shonbrun said in the hearing of guards. The guards said Miss Webb replied: "I love you."

Shonbrun, Miss Webb and Cullen, 45, are accused of the March slaying of Mrs. Reich, 55, a Polish refugee who was the wife of a New Jersey manufacturer. Mrs. Reich was found strangled in a hotel suite.

Testimony will begin tomorrow.

Ringside Table

With Mary Harris

OUR FINE FEATHERED FRIEND, John Tio the parrot, is by way of stealing the show at the Lotus. John can't dance like the Broadway Beauties, nor is he as pretty as Bunny Hare, but he has parrot personality plus. He exchanges wisecracks with Trainer Francis in a voice clear as a bell, imitates dogs, cats, roosters, Jimmie Durante and Bing Crosby But he gave out a basso profundo squawk at the Monday show when asked to do a Nelson Eddy solo, fooled around for minutes before he could be coaxed to do this chore. In closing John shows what the American fliers are doing, gives his opinion of the Japs.

Bob Pace, singer of the King Cole Room, is now in Navy blue and hoping for a voyage across the Pacific.

TOP MUSIC MEN greeted Ina Ray Hutton at her Sunday afternoon debut in the Victory Room. Jimmy Campbell, writer of such great hits as "Show Me the Way to Go Home" and "Good-night, Sweetheart" (he's currently managing Enric Madriguera's orchestra appearing at Del Rio) was ringsiding with Jack Robbins, one of the country's leading song publishers. At the same table was young Ted Fetter, now in soldier's uniform, composer of "Your for a Song" of Billy Rose's Aquacade, and "Taking a Chance on Love" from "Cabin in the Sky." P. S.—Les Brown's Band will come to the Victory Room for a three-week engagement, beginning May 24.

HURRY, HURRY, HURRY to the Cosmos Rooom for a spot of dancing to Eddie Oliver's music. For Cosmos closes for the summer next Saturday night. . . . Ditto for Paul Young's, where it's obligatory for all good night spotters to say farewell for the summer this week to the hilarious doings of Jerry and Turk. P. Y.'s will probably reopen around October 1. . . . Charlie Rock's unit and their witty songs will be bowing out of Hi Hat next Saturday night, with a new unit arriving on Monday. . . . and you should enjoy the Troika and its top flight star, Sheila Barrett, to the utmost between now and May 23, when it'll close until fall.

Crossroads' owners, Eddie Smith and Edgar Baum, have regretfully been forced to stymie Swing King Benny Goodman in his plan to acquire Ralph Hawkins for theater engagements. Goodman pleaded for a Hawkins loan but Messrs. Smith and Baum continued to sing, "I Said No!"

MAYTIME HILARITIES. The Balalaika has added a new Slavicomedy, "Around the Samovar," to their floor show. . . . Remember the famous clowning team, Clayton, Jackson and Durante? If you drop into El Patio around midnight you'll find the Four Troopers right "in the groove" on the C. J. and D. type of screwballing. . . . The Casino Royal's dancing chorus are wearing eye-popping costumes with skirts of fancy shower-curtain material and what looks like cactus growing out of their bras. . . . Dancer Freddy Roberts, appearing at the Shoreham, took lessons from the great Pavlowa, but in singing, not dancing.

OF EXCESS. Peter Borras of the Madrillon is as smart a writer as he is a host. Read his "Battle of the Egg Sandwich" in the last edition of the Madrillon Gourmet. . . . Owner Ralph Lee of Lee's Stables says that so many Congressmen stop in his spot after a hard day of lawmaking that he sometimes thinks he has a quorum.

A press prevue dinner at the restaurant of Steve Cochran's Olney Theater proved that those who dine there before the opening of "George Washington Slept Here" next Monday, will be very fortunate people. Such chicken and fixin's! And "Slim" Gibbons of the Olney mummers saw that we got extra portions.

DOGGIES' DAYS. Oscar Heintze, pianist of Restaurant "823," bought a shepherd puppy when his baby son was born not so long ago. The idea is that the baby and puppy will grow up together . . . Maestro Milton Davis, of the Rainbow Room, has two cocker spaniels and confides that he uses his wife's hair drier on them after their baths. What Mrs. Davis thinks about that we wouldn't know.

MENTAL HAZARDS. David Rice, young and good-looking psychoanalyst at the La Salle du Bois, is becoming quite a fad of our town's society girls. His readings are the cleverest and frankest we've ever heard . . . Lucille Lincoln, graphologist of Restaurant "400," reports that a number of young leddies are submitting samples of their fiance' handwriting for analysis. Foresighted, what?

WITH THE MUSIC MAKERS. Joseph Collins Potts, newest additoin to Paul Kain's Glen Echo band, spends his spare time writing short stories, has amassed a wondrous collection of rejection slips. . . . Mayfair's new Dick Abbott Four was born as an undergrad musical unit at the University of Ohio a few seasons ago . . . The Debonairs of Cafe Caprice have a new arrangement of "Chinatown" that'll get your feet a-tapping . . . So reassuring is "There Won't Be Any Shortage of Love" as played by Pete Macias' band in the Lounge Riviera.

Sixty graduates of the I. C. School of the Navy celebrated their entry into active service with a party at the Nightingale a couple of nights ago. Jack Maggio's Band swung all the Navy songs for them.

NEW RIVER BEND PICTURE. Drummer Cliff Hofen of George Stein's River Bend band is now a Marine, his spot being filled by "Happy" Garner.

Our Buck Suffers From an Unkind Remark

Detroit, May 12.—Another person Buck Newsom doesn't like is Ty Cobb. Big Bobo came to Detroit with the Nats to learn that Cobb, who was in town playing golf, had made an unkind crack to the press after Newsom had shut out the Tigers with one hit in Washington last week.

POVICH

"That Newsom can pitch," Cobb was quoted, "but every time he beats the Tigers this season it indicates that he was laying down on the job for Detroit last year."

Whereupon Newsom exploded. "That's one thing they can't say about me," said Buck. "Cobb or nobody else can say that I ever dogged it with any club. Cobb retired from baseball 15 years ago, and he ought to stay out of it. His record in the game wasn't so hot anyway. I recall there was a little matter that Judge Landis discussed with Cobb just before Detroit fired him as manager. Cobb had to explain a whole lot.

"When Cobb went to the Athletics after leaving the Tigers, he was always trying to beat Detroit, wasn't he? Well, I'm always trying to beat any team I pitch against, and if it's the Tigers, I'm trying to shut them out. That's the only way I play ball, and Cobb should know better than to make a crack like that."

Of all the things that might be said about Newsom, Cobb did, indeed, choose the one that was least likely to stand up under examination, when he said that Big Buck wasn't trying to win for the Tigers last year.

The Big Galoot can't help from trying to win, wherever he may be pitching. He won 20 ball games four years ago for the lowly Browns, a prodigious feat, when a quicker means of being traded to a r... club might have been 20 defeats. Newsom's mental make-up refutes Cobb's charge. The big fellow has too much pride to permit him to give anything but his best. He hates to lose.

Newsom had no reason to lay down on the job with Detroit, particularly. The Tigers would pay him more money than any other club, and did, and Big Bobo, who likes to feel the heavy dough, was exceedingly eager to remain with the Tigers. Certainly he would have no incentive for not giving his best to a team that had paid him $35,000 for a season, and which was willing to pay him that much again.

Newsom didn't do very well with the Tigers last season, winning only 12 and losing 20, but that record can't be explained by any lack of desire to win. The reason Newsom had a poor season was because he wasn't in shape, and because he is somewhat notorious for failure to keep in shape. But with what he does take to the mound on any given day, be it good stuff, or that old tired feeling from too much night life, we'd have to say that Big Bobo was always trying.

The irrespressible Newsom is now relating his full conversation with General Manager Jack Zeller of the Tigers yesterday when Newsom called Zeller by telephone to announce his arrival in town with the Nats. Zeller, who replaced Joe Cronin as Newsom's No. 1 hate in baseball following the Detroit club's attempt to cut his salary $20,000 last winter, heard his phone ring during the morning.

According to Newsom, the conversation went like this:

Zeller: Hello.

Newsom: Hello, Curly Locks. (Zeller is as bald as a light bulb.)

Zeller: So, it's you, Bobo. What do you want?

Newsom: I'm bringing you a little present.

Zeller: What kind of a present?

Newsom: I'll start giving it to you about 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. It's a nice little shutout I've been saving up for the Tigers.

Zeller: Why don't you stop that nonsense.

Newsom: Look at the box score tomorrow night if you think I'm kidding. Goodby, Curly Locks.

If the Cleveland Indians continue as a pennant threat, the Detroit Tigers can probably be blamed. The Tigers were in a position to deal the Indians' pennant hopes a knockout blow this week, and muffed it.

The Indians were in considerable of a nosedive, having lost six straight, when the Tigers went into the second game of a double-header at Cleveland holding a 5-run lead in the ninth. They couldn't keep it, and were beaten out in the tenth. The next day, the Tigers held a 5-0 lead over the Indians in the eighth and again couldn't hold it and were licked.

"There's no telling where the Cleveland losing streak would have ended if the Tigers hadn't dropped those two ball games," said Manager Bucky Harris of the Nats today. "The Indians were getting panicky and didn't know where their next win was coming from, with the Yankees due to follow the Tigers into Cleveland. When the Tigers let the Indians get off the hook in those two games, it gave the Cleveland club just the kind of a stimulant that they needed."

Conn's Father-in-Law Moans Over Their $125,000 Brawl

Punchin' Pappy 'Sick' Over Billy's Broken Hand and Loss of Shot at Joe Louis' Title

By the Associated Press

Pittsburgh, May 12.—Jimmy Smith, the punchin' pappy-in-law, probably cost Heavyweight Contender Billy Conn $125,000 or more in their family "kitchen clouting" and he's "sicker" about it than if the money came out of his own pocket—at least that's what one of Jimmy's closest friends said today.

Billy fractured his left hand on pappy-in-law's head and suffered sundry cuts and bruises in the "one-rounder" in the Smith kitchen Sunday night. But the most serious injury inflicted on Billy was the loss of a chance to fight Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis in June or July. Billy's hand will require at least ten weeks to heal.

Veteran fight men figured the Louis-Conn fight would have drawn at least $750,000 of which Billy's share would have been $125,000 or more.

Art Rooney, Pittsburgh pro football and fight promoter and close friend of both Conn and Smith, a former ball player, voiced Jimmy's regrets by remote control, saying:

"You can take my word for it—there's nobody sicker over what happened than Jimmy. I don't think he'll talk about it but I know how badly he feels. Despite what has occurred, recently and in the past, Jimmy always has been rooting for Billy—and he still will be. You mark what I tell you, they'll be pals yet."

A "ringsider" at the brawl, Rooney declined to comment on the actual exchange of blows but moaned:

"If only they hadn't gone into the kitchen to 'talk things over' everything would have been all right. When two hot-headed Irishmen start to talk—somebody usually gets hurt."

The Conn-Smith eruption followed the christening of the Conns child, David Philip, and stemmed from Smith's long-standing objections to Conn's marriage last summer to Jimmy's daughter, Mary Louise.

Jimmy, who is crowding 50, once threatened to "punch hell" out of Conn.

Meanwhile, at Fort Wadsworth, N. Y., where Conn has returned to duty, Army officers must decide whether Billy will suffer further financial loss—docking of his Army pay. If Conn can give the right answers to the questions of whether he was on authorized leave, whether he was under the influence of liquor and who started the scrap he will get that $21 monthly pay.

Thompson's 1-Hitter Stops Brooks for Reds

Former Teammate Doubles in Sixth; Lamanno Homers In 10-Hit Assault

By the Associated Press

Brooklyn, May 12.—Gene (Junior) Thompson held the Broklyn Dodgers to one hit today as the Cincinnati Reds opened their Eastern swing with an authoritative 5-to-1 triumph that bunched the whole first division of the National League within a span of four games.

The blow that kept Thompson from a no-hitter was a pinch double by Lew Riggs, Thompson's former teammate, and it also kept the 25-year-old right-hander from a shutout.

In the sixth inning Peewee Reese drew one of the two passes received by the Dodgers during the afternoon and Riggs batted for Relief Pitcher Hugh Casey. He rapped a sharp double along the rightfield foul line, sending Reese to third, and a moment later Reese romped home on a fly by Billy Herman.

It was Thompson's second victory without a defeat and the second one-hit game in the major leagues. The other was hurled by Buck Newsom of Washington against the Detroit Tigers.

The Reds made ten hits, but were held scoreless by the veteran Johnny Allen till the fifth, when Rookie Catcher Ray Lamanno connected for his third home run of the season.

Another rookie, Max Marshall, recently obtained from Columbus of the American Association, opened the sixth with a double and scored on a single by Bert Haas. When Lonnie Frey also beat out a single, Casey replaced Allen, who was charged with the loss.

Newt Kimball and Chet Kehn finished up on the mound for the Dodgers and Wimball was the victim of a final three-run uprising in the eighth on doubles by Frank McCormick and Harry Craft, intentional walks to Frey and Lamanno, and a single by Thompson.

Louis Bout Sought For Bob Pastor; All Others 'Out'

By the United Press

New York, May 12.—Promoter Mike Jacobs, announcing that all other contenders were "out," opened negotiations today for a heavyweight title fight in late June between Joe Louis and Bob Pastor of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., at a site not yet determined.

Jacobs denied emphatically that he was considering Melio Bettina, southpaw of Beacon, N. Y., as challenger.

"Now that Billy Conn is on the injured list," he said, "Pastor stands out as the logical opponent for Louis in June. He's won his last 12 fights—most of them against good men."

If the Army approves this bout between Private Louis and Civilian Pastor, they are virtually certain to meet for the third time. Bobbing Bob lasted the full 10 rounds in 1937 before Joe became champion, and he was knocked out in the eleventh round of their scheduled 20-round title battle at Detroit in '39.

Louis celebrates his twenty-eighth birthday Thursday.

Braves Option Hickey, Pitcher, to Hartford

Boston, May 12 (U.P.).—The Boston Braves today announced that right-handed Pitcher Jim Hickey of South Weymouth, Mass., was released to Hartford on option.

Hickey has pitched only 1 1-3 innings since the season opened, being knocked out of the box in the second reel of the contest at the Polo Grounds on April 25 after allowing four runs, four hits and two passes.

Two more players will have to go as the Braves now list 27 men.

Foaled on Easter Sunday by Laura Gal and sired by Challenger II, the little hopeful is now romping on the Glade Valley Farm of William L. Brann at Walkersville, Md., waiting for his chance to win thoroughbred honors

Board Okays Charles Town 'Victory Meet'

A Staff Correspondent

Charles Town, W. Va., May 12.—Charles Town's "victory meeting," an all-out program of 18 days of racing with the entire proceeds going to Army and Navy relief and West Virginia charities, was given the unanimous approval of the West Virginia Racing Commission at a meeting of the body today.

The commission, headed by Chairman Beverley Broun, gave the "go" signal to every phase of the plan suggested by a committee composed of Albert J. Boyle, William Perry and Leeds K. Riely and O.K.'d the application for dates from June 15 to July 4. The three weeks of racing for relief and charity will begin at the conclusion of the current meeting of the Charles Town Jockey Club and will be conducted by the newly formed West Virginia Turf Fund Committee.

Charles Town is turning over half of its usual spring and summer meeting to the raising of funds for war and other charities. The "victory" meeting will pull no punches. No salaries will be paid to the management. All employes will be paid 75 per cent of their salaries in war bonds and stamps. Winning jockeys fees, above the regular riding wage, will be paid in war stamps. Part of the purses to horsemen will be paid in bonds and stamps.

Newsom and Nats Will Try Again Today at Detroit

By a Staff Correspondent

Detroit, May 12.—The weather today prevented the second act of the American League play entitled "The Revenge of Buck Newsom," but Buck and the Nats will try to present it tomorrow.

Newsom, with highly advertised hate on for the Tigers who allegedly wanted to reduce his salary $20,000 this season before selling him to the Nats, will face Hal Newhouser on the mound. Their latest meeting, Newsom declares, will be a sequel to the recent game in Washington when Buck outpitched Hal and blanked the Tigers, 7-0, on one hit.

Giants' Triple Play Helps Beat Bucs, 7-3

By the Associated Press

New York, May 12.—The New York Giants smothered the Pittsburgh Pirates with the season's first triple play and a pair of potent rallies today to help Lefty Cliff Melton attain his fourth triumph, 7 to 3.

Melton allowed only seven hits, but made a faltering start by letting the Bucaneers bunch three of them for two runs in the first inning—Bob Elliott driving both across with a single.

Then the Giants knocked out Southpaw Ken Heintzelman with a five-hit four-run barrage in the third inning.

A three-bagger by Vince DiMaggio led to the Pirates' other run in the sixth and tightened up the game for the Giants' spectacular triple play in the seventh stanza.

John Lanning, who had relieved Heintzelman, led off with a double and Pete Coscarart was awarded first base on interference when Catcher Hank Danning tipped his bat. Both runners sprinted as Frankie Gustine lined a 3-and-2 pitch to Second Baseman Connie Ryan, who tossed to Shortstop Billy Jurges in time for him to step on second and then tag Coscarart.

The Giants put the game out of reach with three runs in the eighth. An error by Lanning and two singles notched one run, and after a walk loaded the bases, one tally trickled across on a double play and another on a single by Manager Mel Ott.

By the Associated Press

St. Louis, May 12.—Opening their first Western invasion of the season, the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the St. Louis Browns today, 5 to 4, with a combination of timely hitting and brilliant pitching in the pinch.

The A's tallied twice in the fifth inning on three singles and an error. In the eighth, Johnny Wallaesa, rookie shortstop, belted a home run with two men on base for the winning margin.

The Browns loaded the bases with one out in the last half of the eighth, but Fred Caligiuri replaced Phil Marchildon and struck out Vernon Stephens and Tony Criscola.

Crippled Chisox May Also Lose Ace Hurler Lyons

By the Associated Press

Chicago, May 12.—The ailing Chicago White Sox, still without the services of Pitcher Thorn Lee and Outfielder Taft Wright, today were confronted with the possible loss of another hurler, Ted Lyons.

The 41-year-old Lyons has been troubled by a back ailment, it was disclosed today. Manager Jimmy Dykes said the pain became severe after last Thursday's game at Boston, in which Bobby Doerr's two homers beat Lyons in 10 innings.

Z-ray pictures then failed to show anything amiss, Dykes said. A further examination will be made within the next two days, he added, which may mean that Lyons will have to pass up his regular turn Thursday.

Campaign To Save Race Is Failure

Program Changes At 11 Colleges Force Cancellation for '42; Fifth Occurrence

By the United Press

New York, May 12.—A four-week campaign to preserve the Poughkeepsie Regatta, even at another site, ended in failure today when the colorful American rowing classic was canceled because of war changes in college schedules.

It was the first intercollegiate sports event of national importance to be called off completely since Pearl Harbor.

Asa S. Bushnell, secretary-treasurer of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association, announced the cancellation, explaining that because of changes in academic schedules, "no date convenient to a majority of the country's major 11 rowing colleges can be found."

He emphasized that the cancellation applies only to the 1942 regatta, which was scheduled originally for the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 13, 15 and 16. He said the regatta may be revived next year.

This year's omission will be the fifth since the Regatta was first staged in the spring of 1895. It was omitted during the years—1917, '18 and '19—and in the depression year, 1933.

When the Rowing Association's board of stewards first became alarmed over changing schedules, about a month ago, conferences were held immediately. At a meeting in the Biltmore Hotel, April 17, it was decided to shift the Regatta from Poughkeepsie to another site, where it could be staged earlier than mid-June.

The stewards' pointed out at the time that it would be impossible to hold the Regatta earlier on the Hudson's four-mile course at Poughkeepsie because of unfavorable tide conditions.

Shortly afterward it was announced that an attempt would be made to stage the event on Lake Onondaga, near Syracuse, N. Y., on May 30 or June 6.

The proposed shift was rejected immediately by Washington U., whose husky sweep-swingers were defending champions and who preferred the Hudson. Other colleges found the dates unsuitable.

Although only five colleges are members of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association—Columbia, Cornell, Navy, Pennsylvania and Syracuse—invitations usually are sent also to California, Massachusetts Tech, Princeton, Rutgers, Washington and Wisconsin.

The result of a final poll of these 11 schools caused today's cancellation.

Servicemen's Ticket Fund Richer by $70

Five donations amounting to $70 last night swelled the servicemen's ticket fund to $299. This fund is to provide tickets for servicemen of nearby camps to the Navy Relief Boxing Show May 21 at Griffith Stadium.

Yesterday's donors were Sid Kaplan, Blaine Wicklein, Frank Brady, Barney's Barbecue and Dave Newman of Marvin's Credit store. This fine reception was the best since the fund was inaugurated with an anonymous contribution of $200.

The boxing show, which will turn over its entire profits to the Navy Relief Society, has two ten-round main events listed with Heavyweights Lou Nova and Lee Savold meeting in one feature, and Middleweights George Abrams and Steve Mamakos fighting in the other.

These two matches will be supplemented by an eight-rounder and a six. In the eight, Jimmy DeChard, a local heavyweight, will engage Frank Poreda of the Navy. The six will pair Frankie Wills, another local boy, with Sammy Magro, Alabama lightweight. Promoter Mike Jacobs is expected to add another bout to the card in which either Jabbo Kenner, giant heavyweight, or Billy Banks, a lightweight, will be one of the principals.

Readers wishing to help in the campaign to provide tickets for service men, may send contributions to The Post's Boxing Writer. The fund has already purchased one block of 86 tickets and another block will be bought this weekend.

Tickets to the show, which are priced at $2.50, $4, $6 and $10, can be bought at Griffith Stadium.

Freshman Battery Leads Hoyas' 6-0 Shutout of Temple

It Was! It Wasn't! And So Far Into the Night

A balk called on Georgetown Pitcher Bill McGurk in the ninth inning of yesterday's Georgetown-Temple baseball game on the Hilltop touched off a real, old-fashioned argument between Georgetown Coach Joe Judge and Plate Umpire Morrissey. The winner? Are you kidding? Temple Runner Frank Dianci advanced to third on the balk, the only Owl to reach that far station as they lost, 6-0

Bill McGurk Gives Only 5 Safeties

Catcher Tom Costello Paces 11-Hit Attack With Homer, Triple; G. U.'s 7th Victory

By Jack Munhall

A couple of big Irishmen, rarities on Georgetown's poly-syllabic-named nine, yesterday ganged up to lead Joe Judge's Hoyas to their first 1942 shutout, a 6-0 job on Temple on the Hilltop field.

Bill McGurk, a right-hander from Montclair (N. J.) High School, unraveled a smooth, workmanlike five-hit performance, while Battery Mate Tom Costello from Mount St. Michael's High in New York, clouted a homer and triple to pace G. U.'s 11-hit onslaught.

Six-footers both and broad-shouldered and rangy lads, these two freshmen with the poise and polish of seniors, were teaming up for the second time all year. They don't get so much work what with some G. U. opponents refusing to play against frosh and McGurk having been bothered with a sore arm. However, they don't muff their opportunities, yesterday's being their second chance and second victory. In their other appearance they whipped Western Maryland, 4-3.

Owls Prove No Setup

Temple was no setup, either. Deft fielders and strong throwers, the Owls looked the part of a ball club that had won eight of 11 previous games. That is, they looked it, except when they were trying to fathom McGurk's assortment of speed, knucklers and outdrops. He fanned four and walked two.

It was the seventh victory in nine starts for the Hoyas, who are pushing ahead toward another great season under Judge's coaching.

Though early decided, this was an unusually good college ball game. The fielding on both sides was clean and at times brilliant, while Georgetown's 11 hits were almost all of the ringing variety the fans describe as a "hit in any man's league."

Russ Monroe, a right-hander, started and went all the way for Temple, improving steadily after a rocky start in which his own wildness played a vital part. Eight of their 11 hits the Hoyas packed into the first four innings when they wrenched four runs out of Monroe, who helped them along with all four of the passes he issued for the game.

Temple Goes Out Quickly

Temple went down one, two, three in the first two innings and again in the fourth while failing to advance a runner past first until the seventh, when Andy Britz singled and stole second. In the ninth the Owls got another runner to second and then to third when Umpire Morrissey charged McGurk with a balk. His decision brought Coach Judge roaring off the bench to argue for five minutes before play was resumed. He continued the wrangle after the game.

Pitcher McGurk, Third Baseman John Kulokowski and First Baseman Dick Dieckelman were the Hoyas' fielding stars.

Shortstop Bill Fletcher and Third Baseman Earl Gotwals came up with a couple of fine plays each for the Owls.

How well McGurk pitched is reflected in the statistics which show the Owls got only six balls out of the infield, including their five hits. Two of their safeties were strictly of the scratch type. McGurk was credited with two putouts and four assists as he covered his position afield better than any Georgetown pitcher in the writer's memory.

Eight Pitchers See Action as Cubs Win, 9-8

By International News Service

Boston, May 12.—The Chicago Cubs won from the Braves today by 9 to 8 in a game that saw eight pitchers—five for the Braves—go to the mound.

The Cubs led all the way, but missed by just one run of blowing a 9-to-3 lead when the Braves rallied for five runs in the eighth, highlight of the uprising being Jim Tobin's pinch homer with one on.

The Braves outhit the Cubs, 11 to 8, and among their blows was another home run by Ernie Lombardi with one on. Bill Nicholson homered for the Cubs.

Lou Tost, who started for the Braves, was the loser, and Ed Hanyzewski, former Notre Dame flinger, who made his debut in a relief, was credited with the victory.

Hale America Deadline Stretched

New York, May 12 (AP).—Although 227 entry blanks for the Hale America national open golf tournament were received today, Joe Dey of the U. S. G. A., said that the deadline would be extended from tomorrow evening to Friday noon.

Today's entries included Walter Hagen and Jimmy Demaret, both of Detroit; Fred McLeod of Washington, the 1908 open champion; Dick Metz and Ky Laffoon, top flight professionals.

Dey added that amateurs were entering the competition, receipts of which will go to the USO and Navy relief, in greater proportion than for any recent open. Latest of the play-for-fun aces to enter are Alfred Doering of Chicago and Wilford Wehrle, Racine, Wis.

Lamotta, Basora Battle to Draw

New York, May 12 (AP).—Jack Lamotta, 156¾, Puerto Rico, and Jose Basora, 156¾, Puerto Rico, slugged their way to a 10 round draw in the main ring attraction at the Bronx Coliseum tonight.

Lamotta held his own the last seven rounds although he suffered a cut above his left eye in the third.

Chester Rico, 136, New York, won by a technical knockout over Joe Torres, 141, Puerto Rico, in the fourth round of the semiwindup.

Mac Mitchell, Hulse to Meet At Hilltop

Leslie MacMitchell, the country's outstanding miler, and N. Y. U. teammate Bill Hulse yesterday agree to run a special ¾-mile race in conjunction with the Georgetown-Fordham dual track meet, May 23, at the Hilltop.

MacMitchell and Hulse, who recently cracked MacMitchell's string of 25 straight victories, will seek to erase the existing American record for the distance. Against a field including three other as yet unnamed opponents they will be aiming at the record of 2 minutes 38.7 seconds, established by Paul Moore at Palo Alto, April 17, 1940.

Rome Schwagel, Georgetown graduate manager of athletics, is searching high and low for three other crack distance runners to complete the field. Don Burnham, Dartmouth's great freshman miler and one of the surprise stars of the recent Penn Relays, is one contestant who would be greatly welcomed.

Hulse, a slim Negro with well-nigh perfect running form, halted MacMitchell's long victory streak last Saturday when he took advantage of Leslie's "pocketing" in a big field to win the New York Metropolitan intercollegiate track and field championships. Hulse's time was 1:56.

Schwagel also revealed yesterday that Don Martin, No. 1 player of the Georgetown tennis team and recent conqueror of Miami's Billy Gillespie, would be drafted in the Army immediately following his graduation from the Hilltop May 25.

Wright Ordered To Arrange Bout With Costantino

By the Associated Press

New York, May 12.—Chalky Wright of Los Angeles, recognized in New York State as featherweight champion, was ordered by the State athletic commission today to sign by June 12 for a 15-round title defense against Lulu Costantino, the little East Sider, whom he defeated in a close eight-rounder here last week.

Eddie Walker, Wright's manager bucked like a steer at the order. He declared that Wright would not fight Costantino again until Costantino had met Sal Bartola of Boston, another 126-pound contender. Bartola, who has been ill, was examined by the commission doctor today and was pronounced not fit to fight for at least another month.

Market Nine Scores, 12 to 1, Over Heurich

The Heurich Brewers, defending champions in The Washington Post-Industrial Baseball League, underwent one of their most thorough beatings in years yesterday when Center Market, a newcome to the circuit, ground out a 12-to-1 decision in an eight-inning game on the Ellipse.

Play was stopped in the eighth after Third Baseman Remington emptied the loaded bases with a four-bagger.

Frank Watt took credit for the victory, matching the Brewers' Lewis with a seven-hit effort.

G. W. Drubs American Nine To Cut String of 1-Run Losses

Kloak Tosses 6-Hitter, Wins by 20-3, as Mates Pound Three Eagle Hurlers for 14 Safeties

American University yesterday finally snapped its unhappy habit of losing ball games by one run. But don't be misled, for the Eagles dropped this one by 20-3 to George Washington on the East Ellipse in a game humanely limited to seven innings.

As best the scorer could figure, George Washington rapped out 14 hits in its six batting turns and combined these with five errors and nine bases on balls to score in every inning but the sixth. The Colonials warmed up slowly on Herman Byer, first of A. U.'s three pitchers, tapping him for two runs in each of the first and second. In the third they got only one run.

Then along came the fourth. Whambo! Eight George Washington runs. And then the fifth and seven more. Big John Konizewski with a triple and two singles and six runs batted in and Len Sokol with a homer and a single and five runs driven in were G. W.'s heaviest hitters. Robertson's circuit smash cleared the bases in the fifth.

"Red" Kloak went the distance for the Colonials, doling out six hits and escaping damage except in the third when A. U. bunched three hits. Byer and Rube McNab doubled, Darby walked and "Shanty" Shepherd singled.

It was the seventh victory in 11 games for the surprisingly successful Colonials in their first season under Vinnie DeAnglis who started out with only one dependable pitcher—Kloak.

A. U., previous loser of six games by a one-run margin, was giving Coach Cassell an unwelcome going away present. Cassell leaves tomorrow for Morningside College, Davenport, Iowa, to become director of athletics.

Just THE KISS OF THE HOPS —none of the bitterness

You don't have to drink a bitter beer—you can always get Schlitz. Schlitz methods of brewing control capture only the delicate flavor of finest selected hops—then discard the hops before their bitter end-taste is reached. Once you taste America's most distinguished beer you will never want to go back to a bitter beer —you will always want Schlitz.

Mrs. Maxwell's 76 Wins Keeler Memorial Tournament

Mrs. Stokes Takes Low Gross Prize

City Champion Posts Disappointing 81; Mrs. Pray, Meckley Second With 85's

By Merrell W. Whittlesey

Mrs. M. M. Maxwell found the Washington Golf and Country Club course to her liking yesterday for the second time in as many years, winning the Phyllis Keeler Miller Memorial Tournament with a round of 87, minus 11 handicap strokes, for a net 76. The Columbia Club player won her first tournament over the hilly Virginia layout last summer, the Class B section of the Star Cup.

Mrs. Maxwell, an attractive brunette who played from Army-Navy last year when she was a comparative newcomer to local tournaments, played consistently to her newly lowered handicap for the entire round, going out in 44 and back in 43 for the 87. A penalty stroke and a pair of three-putt greens were included in her winning round.

Low gross honors went to the city champion, Mrs. Walter R. Stokes, but her finishing total of 81 was somewhat of a disappointment after a sensational one-under-men's par start for the first six holes when she put together five hours and a par three on the second to have par in for a 34. The four on the fourth hole was a birdie. Mrs. Stokes went one over on each of the finishing holes of the first nine to turn in 37 and then ran into loads of trouble on the late stages of the back nine, ditches, traps and three-putt greens and posted a 44 for 81.

Scoring was generally high, however, and Mrs. Stokes' score was four shots better than the next best totals, 85s by the defending champion, Mrs. Betty Meckley of Kenwood, and Mrs. L. G. Pray of Manor.

Second low net in the Keeler Cup play was a tie between Ann Reh of the host club with 49, 45—94—15—79, and Army-Navy's improving young player, Ann York, with 49, 46—95—16—79.

Class B players, with handicaps of 19 to 36, played for special prizes, but were not eligible for the Keeler Miller Trophy. The host club supplied the leader of the higher handicapped competitors in Mrs. T. S. O'Halloran, whose 55, 54—109—35—74, was the low net total. Mrs. J. Y. York, mother of the Class A prize winner and Army and Navy's Peabody Cup champion, was second with 50, 48—98—21—77; Mrs. Don Lee, Washington, third, with 100—22—78, and Mrs. W. F. Kerr, Prince Georges, fourth, among the B class net winners, with 52, 51—103—21—82. Mrs. E. E. Herrmann, Army and Navy, just missed with 104—21—83, while Mrs. Max Taylor was a shot too high in Class A with an 80.

A special class was provided for players with club handicaps but without District handicaps and by the matching cards method Mrs. J. H. Farrar, of the host club, was the winner with a 53-58, 111-26, 85. Mrs. J. E. McCabe, also of Washington, was next with 54-53, 107-22, 85, while by her own request the host club golf committee chairman, Mrs. S. C. Hopkins, was not considered in the matching of cards although she tied with 58-51, 109-24, 85.

Congressional Golf Honors Are Divided

Shirley Chamblin, of Argyle Country Club, and Martin F. McCarthy, Columbia, divided net and gross honors in the annual golf outing of the Country Club Bowling League yesterday at Congressional Country Club. A field of 84 competed.

Chamblin was out in 41 and back in 39, four over par each nine, for an 80 and deducted 11 handicap strokes for a net 69 while McCarthy put together a pair of 38s for a 76, best score of the day.

Second low gross went to Lou Harrison of Indian Spring with a 40-37, 77, while Bob Thompson, Prince George, won third gross with a 78 as Barnie Hallock, Kenwood, had 78, George Miller, Columbia, 78, and Earl Clary, Indian Spring, 78.

D. N. Pratt, Manor, won second net with 83-13, 70, while Marvin Johnston, Congressional, was third with 89-18, 71.

Winners in the various blind bogey and blind hole awards were: Marvin Wire; T. Brewer; T. M. Dennis; G. Galbraith; Charles Griffin; Jim Hutchison; G. Reichard; G. Bruerer; H. A. Neff, P. Davies; Lincoln Johnston; William LaBille; Robert Fuchs; John Feeney; G. C. Rittenhouse; Jerry Enright; Dr. J. Greevey; Luther C. Steward, jr., Doug Mattison and F. Zsakay.

Bethesda Wins Metropolitan Golf Crown

Bethesda High School golfers won the Metropolitan Section of the Schoolboy Golf League yesterday but not until after the Barons and Georgetown Prep's defending champions set a record for extra hole matches in the title encounter at Woodmont.

Bethesda won four of five matches which passed the eighteenth green to win over the stubborn little Hoya aggregation, 6 to 3, and clinch the crown among the suburban and private schools. Roosevelt had previously won the public school section.

Both of Bethesda's star players were upset in extra holes but teamed to win the best ball point while in the second foursome both Bethesdans won in extra holes but lost the best ball by a wide margin in the craziest schoolboy match in the history of the league.

Georgetown's No. 1 man, Neal Sullivan, holed a putt on the twenty-second hole to beat BusterMrstik, 1 up, while Charles Price of the Little Hoyas won over last year's schoolboy champ, Alton Willett, 1 up, as the latter took three from the edge on the last hole. Willett then holed a 30-foot putt on the twentieth hole to win the best ball point.

In the second foursome Syd Lanier and Dick Poerstel of Bethesda won matches on the nineteenth, or first extra hole, but lost the best ball match to their respective victims, Ekrich and Crowley, 4 and 3.

The last foursome was all Bethesda, Pattison defeating Martin, 4 and 3, Ray Burgdorf winning on the nineteenth over McAndrews, 1 up in the fifth extra hole match and Bethesda winning the best ball, 3 and 2.

All had trouble scoring and the totals were in the 80s.

Auto 'Legion' Stages Final Show Tonight

Following tonight's final performance of Ken Butler's Hollywood Suicide Legion of Daredevils with their automobile and motorcycle crash show at the West Lanham, Md., Speedway, 8:30 o'clock, the track will be cleared for the final motorized event during the gasoline-rationing period.

On Friday night at West Lanham Racing Director Tom Lane will cooperate with Copromoters S. F. (Red) Crise and Jack Kochman in presenting a seven-event program of midget automobile racing which is to close down mechanized action there until further notice, possibly for the duration.

Shorty McAndrews, the hard-bitten little Philadelphia veteran who won last week's 25-lap race in good time, is one of the principals expected to compete, while little Johnny Ritter, who pushed McAndrews in the prettiest race of the night, is another.

Tickets for the final racing card go on sale today at the Rite-Way Auto Top Co., 607-609 K Street Northwest. Reservations may be made through Metropolitan 6070.

Men Chosen For Challenge Open Jumping

A quartet of gentlemen riders chosen from the ranks of local and northern horsedom have answered the "challenge" of four equestriennes for an open jumping competition in the Washington Horse Show, to be held Saturday and Sunday at Meadowbrook Saddle Club.

The men are Morton W. (Cappy) Smith, who is expected to ride one of Mrs. Edward Lasker's entries from Port Chester, N. Y.; Samuel E. Bogley with Ringmaster, Alex Calvert with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Vogel, jr.'s Hilow Ladd, and David Martin on Cateer.

The ladies, announced yesterday, are Margaret Cotter with King Rock, Mrs. Fred J. Hughes, jr., with Hi-Ho, which will be brought here from Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.; Mrs. Lasker with Modernistic, and Mrs. William Haggin Perry with My Freckles.

In the midst of the slight flurry concerning the last minute addition to the Washington prize list, committee members were observing that entries were as good comparatively as in other years. One class, for open working hunters, has attracted 44 mounts to go over the handsome outside course.

Fishing with JACK BELL

JACK BELL

The Whalebone—known to all sportsmen who drive down the sand to Oregon Inlet, North Carolina, and Hatteras Island—is gone. The filling station, which derived its distinctive name from the skeleton of a whale alongside it, burned a few days ago and, with building restrictions what they are, Mrs. Neva Midgett, the accommodating proprietress, said it probably will not be rebuilt for the duration.

The Whalebone was like an oasis to the surf fishermen arriving at the end of the sand trail with slack tires, as there they had the tires inflated for the pavement driving ahead. Mrs. Midgett's biggest business was probably fre information about fishing and free air.

The two-mile restriction on offshore fishing hasn't hindered channel bass fishing at Oregon Inlet or Hatteras. Last week all boats in the area were under charter and until the nor'easter of last Wednesday everyone made good catches at both places.

Harry Ruebsam and Ted Dolton of Bethesda, left early Sunday morning for Hatteras with well-filled gas tank and reserves to make what may be their last trip for the duration. They will spend a week to 10 days fishing for the "red rougues" in the surf and off shore.

Visitors to North Carolina's outer banks now find the greatest difference over years past in the dim-out. All general illumination is out and an order requiring dimmed auto headlights on the ocean highway is expected almost any time.

Dan Hassett of Washington recently returned from Ocracoke, N. C., and he tells us the ocean front is a sight with oil from sunk tankers, covering the beach one-half to 3 inches thick; dead and dying birds, cormorants, loons, ducks and gulls by the hundreds.

His best fishing was found at Beaufort, N. C., catching bonito and mackerel averaging 2½ pounds. Dan said "the Navy men in charge down there are swell, doing everything in their power to cooperate with the sports fishermen."

At Chincoteague, Va., our friend Al Stewart, who hails from Wilmington, Del., reports that trout or weakfish—the big ones—are running in the East Channel. He and his party caught eight which weighed a total of 108 pounds, and when the going slacked off they caught flounders weighing 5 to 6 pounds.

At Wachaupreague, Va., the reports are about the same—plenty of trout and hardheads.

The hardhead hordes continue to make their way up the Chesapeake. Fishermen fishing the Patuxent are all making good catches of these early fish, and now they are being caught over in the Choptank. Striped bass or rockfish are also being taken by trollers over on the Eastern Shore. It now is only a matter of time when they will be surface feeding and striper fishing will be in full swing.

The early salt-water angler is by far finding the going better than his fresh-water brother. Trout fishermen plying their art on the mountain streams of Virginia and Maryland are having only fair success.

Commission Donates Tax On Navy Show

The District of Columbia Boxing Commission yesterday waived its 10 per cent "take" on the mammoth boxing carnival to be sponsored by the local Navy Relief Society at Griffith Stadium a week from tomorrow night, May 21.

Commissioners Claude Owen, Thomas Morgan and Lieut. John Agnew voted the step following a meeting in the commission's offices last Monday afternoon.

"I consider this a most generous move, and certainly a voluntary one on the part of our commission," George A. Garrett, chairman of the local citizens' committee, said.

Meantime, announcement was received from Mike Jacobs' Twentieth Century Sporting Club in New York that the winner of Lou Nova and Lee Savold in the ten-round heavyweight feature of the boxing carnival here would receive serious consideration for a proposed title bout with World Heavyweight Boxing Champion Joe Louis in New York late next month.

Billy Conn, originally expected to box Louis a return bout, has been forced to step out of the picture temporarily due to an injured hand received in a fight with his father-in-law.

In the event Savold wins decisively over Nova, it is claimed, he will be hard to overlook. The terrific punching Des Moines Destroyer is one of the few heavyweights never to have boxed Louis, and has a record of 19 knockouts in his last 28 bouts.

Nova, Manager Ray Carlen maintains, will file his challenge with the New York State Boxing Commission for a return bout with Louis immediately after the Savold bout, if victorious. The California contender is confident he can improve over his performance against Louis last September when he was defeated on knockout in the sixth round.

Comanagers Bill Daly and Hymie Wiseman likewise will go to the post for Savold, and will bring plenty of pressure to bear in order to land the bout.

Although Bob Pastor, on the strength of a great winter campaign, is popularly mentioned to supplant Conn as an opponent for Louis, Wiseman and Daly will cite the fact that Louis has boxed Pastor twice previously.

Tickets for the Navy Relief Carnival continue enjoying a brisk advance sale at Griffith Stadium where they are priced at $2.50, $4.00, $6.00 and $10.00. Reservations may be made through DUpont 6333.

Newsman Crashes News With an Ace At East Potomac

A newspaperman made news yesterday at East Potomac when he aced the 225-yard No. 8 hole. Cliff Stratton, Washington correspondent for the Topeka Capital and other Kansas papers, modestly described as "deliberate" the second hole-in-one of his career. The first, made back in 1931 in Topeka, was "accidental."

With Newsman Stratton to witness his perfect shot were Representatives William P. Lambertson of Kansas and Roy O. Woodruff and Bartel J. Jonkman of Michigan.

Stadium, Paying $18.20, Takes Feature at Charles Town

Blue Gander, 3-2 Choice, Runs Out

By Walter Haight
A Staff Correspondent

Charles Town, W. Va., May 12.—Washingtonians figured prominently in the running of the feature race here today. Jockey Eddie Smith did the riding and Trainer R. L. (Peg) Hanna did the saddling and Stadium, a 4-year-old filly by Theatrical out of Park, did the running for the Capital City pair. At the finish of the six and a half furlongs, Stadium had a length margin over Norman Corbin's Brazen Bussy with J. E. Simmons Remolee in third position.

Racing in the colors of Mrs. E. D. Sowers, Stadium withstood a long drive to bring her backers an $18.20 mutuel. She was clocked in 1.21 4-5.

The pre-race wagering developed one of the hottest paddock tips in Charles Town history. Blue Gander, a big 5-year-old owned by R. C. Waple, 9-to-1 in the early stages of the betting and then dropped steadily until he was a 3-to-2 with the horses at the post.

Blue Gander appeared to be living up to his backing in the early stages of the race. The big gray went to the front at once, opened a five-length lead while saving ground and seemed on his way to victory when he collapsed approaching the stretch.

With Blue Gander through, Jockey Smith rallied Stadium and the filly responded. She went to the front and held sway to the end. Brazen Hussy, Remolee and Fushionette came willingly, but could not match the speed of Stadium approaching the wire.

Another Washingtonian, George A. Garrett, did not fare so well. His Tellevane finished a neck in front of H. W. Pearson's Gold Sweep in the second race, but was disqualified. Tellevane had a lead nearing the stretch, but bolted out and impeded Gold Sweep. In the meanwhile, Alfred Paul's Tar Miss took command, but Tellevane and Gold Sweep regained stide and crossed the line ahead of the Kantar filly.

The stewards exonerated Jockey Willie Dufford of the blame for the foul. Tellevane was attempting to run out the gap at the head of the stretch. Dufford said. Gold Sweep was awarded first money, with Tar Miss placed second and High Rose third. Gold Sweep paid $6.20 and paved the way for a $19 daily double. June Pennant won the third race to complete the "twin" transaction, and paid $7 in her own right.

Cerberus Captures Third in Row

By the Associated Press

Churchhill Downs, May 12.—R. Needham's Cerebus, second to With Regards in the Arkansas Derby, continued his winning form here today as he chalked up his third successive victory of the meeting in the River Road Purse.

Showing the same sparkling speed, the 3-year-old son of Coldstream made every post a winning one to beat four other overnighters in the mile dash. Allen T. Simmons' Shortening always was in closest pursuit, but was a length and a half at the finish. Cadmium challenged at the head of the lane, but third was his portion, 2½ lenghts farther back.

Cerebus, shortest price favorite of the day, rewarded his backers at $3 for $2. His time of 1:37 2-5 for the mile was excellent, considering the cuppy condition of the track. His victory also made it a triple for Jockey S. Brooks, who had scored previously on Burgoolette and Bead.

At The Post

Dear Al:

We have to hand it to Charles Town and the West Virginia Racing Commission for coming through with something really productive in the way of war relief aid. That 18-day meeting should raise a tidy sum which is as it should be. Brothers Boyle, Broun, Bradley and the others ought to take several bows. Now, all we need is to solve the transportation problem and then watch the cash roll in. The victory meeting will be a good break for horsemen, jockeys and others who would have been idle for the most part until Hagerstown opens. There will be no change in the mutuel set-up with the usual "take" going to the relief organizations. Dr. W. E. Trussell, the track veterinarian, is suffering from a broken hand. A horse he was examining kicked him. Rancho's Girl, owned by J. H. Richardson, was cut down badly in her race opening day and will be out of training for a while. Well Allright didn't set a track record here on the first day's card. The program was in error and the 1:24 1-5 for 7 furlongs by Soldierette still stands. When Vincent Bracciale rode here Monday it was his first appearance in a race. He is 19 years old, from Brooklyn, N. Y., and is under contract to Dick Floyd, former Texas polo star who has several horses here. Harold Bester came over from Hagerstown to renew acquaintances and see the races. He is the general manager of the Hagerstown track. Friend Vincent Lester writes to remind all that the Knights of Columbus horse show on June 27 and 28 is going to ball all-out for Army and Navy relief. It will be staged at Meadowbrook. J. D. H. wants to know the railroad distances from Washington to Bowie (13:5 miles). From Baltimore to Bowie (24.8 miles) and from Washington to Baltimore (38.3 miles). See you on the rail. BILL.

First race—MARANDAN has plenty of speed and appears well placed in this sprint. Needs only the right ride. MICROPLAY likes the route and is dangerous. TIMES PASSES for the show end.

Second race—PIMLICO LADY looks like the right one. Has enough speed to beat these to the first turn and that will just about decide this. SATIN ROYCE has a chance. TOWN CAR is a good one on the reserve list.

Third race—BROOMORIA turned in a fair effort over in Maryland and probably is best of these. EXPORT is a veteran with some stretch punch. MISS MAKER would be right there if sent postward.

Fourth race—SILVER BEAM was something of a champion hereabouts last year and gets my call. MISS KSAR is reported ready and belongs close. MIGHTY BUSY has a money chance.

Fifth race—KATE SMITH had speed on the milers. She will be hard to catch if right. SPECTATOR is a dangerous contender. TAUT to take care of the others.

Sixth race—MALVOIS has an excellent Pimlico race as a recommendation and needs only the right ride. LOCH RAVEN has early speed but quit on the milers. MAIDEN FERN should improve off that last.

Seventh race—ROMAN BOY loves this abbreviated sprint route. Gets much weight but has the foot to turn back this kind. NAVIGATION is due respect. LIGHT OF MORN for the show end.

Eighth race—SCHLEY AL is ready for the best and may overcome the outside post position and take it all. BOB JUNIOR probably needed that last. GOANTELL is always dangerous around here.

Ninth race—JEAN C had trouble in her first outing over this track. With clear sailing, this one should win. STAR CHARTER is better than shown. GIGGLE LEE and PURPLE DAWN are possibilities.

Best bet—SCHLEY AL.

Virginia All-Stars Try Luck Against Norfolk Navy Nine

By the Associated Press

Richmond, Va., May 12.—The Norfolk Naval Training Station baseball team, which has been riding along on victory after victory, will see what it can do with the cream of the State's Collegiate All-Stars on May 22.

Gus Tebell, University of Virginia basecall coach, will manage the first all-star college squad ever assembled in the State, and this aggregation of talent will battle the sailors, many of whom are former big leaguers, in a contest at Charlottsville.

Every college in the State will be represented on the team, which will also have the backing of the entire University of Virginia squad, which will be held intact following today's closing game with the William and Mary Indans at Williamsburg.

Power Sales Here Set New April Record

The Potomac Electric Power Co. yesterday reported sales of 87,070,829 kilowatt hours in April, a new record for that month and an increase of 12.5 per cent over the same month last year.

Largest increase was in use by the local transit system whose consumption soared 23 per cent during hours. Domestic, commercial and Governmental consumption was up 11.5 per cent to 75,229,840 kilowatt hours. Street and highway lighting was virtually unchanged.

So far this year, power consumption compares as follows:

Bond Deadline Set

The Treasury yesterday set Thursday midnight as the deadline for the purchase of its 2½ per cent, 20-25-year bonds.

These securities, of a type not sold since the first World War, were placed on sale May 4 with the statement that any investors could buy as many of them as they desired up until a time then indefinite. Latest figures show that $718,478,950 worth were sold through last Saturday.

Ordinarily, the Treasury bonds, except war bonds for small investors, are sold only in a one or two day offering and for only limited amounts.

Dealers' Relief Bill Signed

Thousands of dealers in automobiles, trucks, tires and other goods being rationed may find eventual financial relief under legislation signed yesterday by President Roosevelt.

The measure directs the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to advance loans on these rationed articles, or purchase them outrght if dealers are unable to sell them after 18 months.

Dealers would be assured cost, plus reasonable return for transportation, storage, handling and servicing on articles, with a provision for payment of not less than retail prices if the article is held for 18 months without sale. These prices would be fixed by the Office of Price Administration.

Federal Reserve Seeks 50% Cut in Credit This Year as Part of Anti-inflation Program

"If a man pays $100 in taxes and buys $100 of war bonds and then borrows $200 nothing has happened." That, says one Government official, is the reason for the drastic limiting of consumer credit, made effective last Tuesday by the Federal Reserve Board.

To that man a great deal has happened in the process but to the national economy, struggling to throw off the ague of inflation, it is no help at all.

"Every dollar squeezed out of credit is just as effective in fighting inflation," this official adds, "as the dollar sopped up in taxes or in savings."

Thus, the Nation's central bank contributes to the President's seven-point drive against the cost of living.

Taken with Secretary Morgenthau's proposal for lowering the exemption on income taxes, the drive for greater sales of war savings bonds and stamps, price ceilings and rationing and the President's policy of holding wages and farm income at present levels, it is a vital part of the drive to prevent inflation from hampering the war effort.

The aim: Government economicts estimate that some ten billion dollars of consumer credit was outstanding at the end of 1941. By the end of this year they would like to see that figure halved.

Because the stock-in-trade of installment selling (automobiles, radios, refrigerators, washing machines, vacuum cleaners and other durable goods for the home) is fast disappearing from the market, the bulk of consumer credit has been shrinking by about 250 million dollars a month since January 1.

At that rate, this year would take about three billion off the total outstanding consumer credit, the economists say.

The heat turned on by the new FRB regulation—covering charge accounts and personal loans as well as installment sales—is expected to shrink the total of consumer credit outstanding by another two billion dollars or $2,500,000,000 inside of a year.

Ordinarily, when national income is increasing and people are getting more money in their pockets, credit icreases, too.

The credit job is made easier because conversion of civilian industries to war production will take off the market the very goods which people usually buy on credit.

The means: In throttling down the credit mechanism, the Federal Reserve Board did three thngs:

1. On a long list of items covering most things that people buy on installments, the FRB set these limits: At least one-third down payment and not more than 12 months to pay. It allowed a minimum down payment of 20 per cent for household furniture and pianos, and allowed 15 months to pay for automobiles and motorcycles.

The board added another rule: Payments must be at least $5 a month. Thus, if a man bought a $30 suit of clothes on the installment plan he would have to make a down payment of $10 and, at $5 a month would have to pay off the remainder in four months.

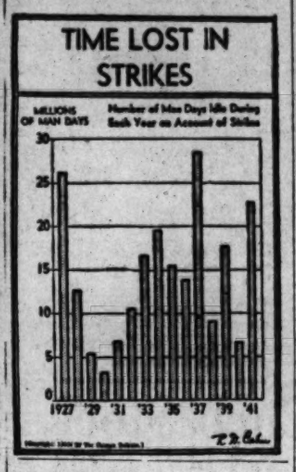
2. Charge accounts must be paid in full on the tenth day of the second month after purchase. This means that any purchase must be paid for within between 40 and 70 days of the purchase date or the customer's credit must stop.

3. Loans to individuals up to $1500 to be repaid in lump sum must be paid up in 90 days or placed on an installment basis, which means at least $5 a month in payments and not more than 12 months to pay. Loans repaid on the installment plan must be paid off in 12 months. Where the loan is made for the purchase of any listed article, a down payment also is required.

Although the charge account ruling put new burdens on retailers, who had hardly recovered from the blow of price ceiling regulations, the bankers of the FRB were hopeful that the regulation would find a sympathetic welcome.

It was the board's purpose to keep the convenience of the charge account without allowing it to become an escape from the restrictions on installment selling.

The rules on personal loans also are intended to keep loans from becoming, in fact, a back door way of installment selling.



Railroads Adopt New Auto Shipment Rate

Chicago, May 2 (AP).—Western railroads announced today discontinuance for the duration of the war, effective June 1, of the shipping of privately owned automobiles in expedited freight service on the so-called extra-ticket plan in use for some 15 years.

Under this plan a private automobile could be shipped on the owner's passenger ticket plus an extra ticket, plus 4 cents a mile. From June 1 on automobiles must be shipped on straight freight or express rates.

Republic Steel Cuts Dividend To 25 Cents

By the Associated Press

Cleveland, May 12.—Republic Steel Corporation, which has paid five consecutive 50 cent dividends in the last 14 months, today declared only a 25 cent payment with Chairman T. M. Girdler commenting:

"It is impossible to make a reasonable estimate of the corporation's net profit for the ensuing year or even to make a close estimate of the actual net profit to date."

The common stock payment will be made July 2 to stockholders of record June 9.

"It is practically certain that there will be a very considerable increase in Federal taxes," Girdler stated. "In addition a question of wage increase has been laid before the War Labor Board, and that board has announced that a wage increase, if granted, shall be retroactive to February 7.

"It should not be considered that a regular rate of dividend has been or is now established."

D. & H. Postpones Dividend Action

New York, May 12 (AP).—J. H. Nuelle, president of the Delaware & Hudson Co., told stockholders at the annual meeting today directors had carefully considered the matter of dividends on the company's stock but decided to defer action at this time in view of the 50 million dollar bond maturity on May 1, 1943.

Without going into details as to how the company proposed to meet the maturity, Nuelle said a committee had been studying the matter and in due course would present to bondholders a plan which it believed would be fair and equitable.

Nuelle said net income of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad Co. in the first four months of 1942 amounted to $1,466,000 against $608,000 last year. Hudson Coal Co. had an estimated net of $242,000 compared with a loss of $80,000 in the first four months of 1941.

Cloth of Soybean Exhibited at N. Y. 'Ingenuity Show'

New York, May 12 (AP).—American research laboratories are busy overcoming raw material shortages brought on by the war.

More than 100 companies engaged in making things that people wear and use put on an "Ingenuity Show" at which some of the things already developed were displayed. They included:

A new cloth which looks like wool but is made of soy beans; a "victory" electric fan with blades of hard fiber instead of aluminum, cord wire of silver instead of copper and a new sun lamp bulb which requires no metal stand or reflector because it has its own reflector inside and can be screwed into any lamp socket.

Glass, wood and plastics loomed large in all displays as substitutes for three essential war materials that are getting scarcer—rubber, wool and metal.

Southern Pacific Debt Reduced $39,308,463

New York, May 12 (AP).—The Southern Pacific Co. reduced its outstanding debt held by the public by $39,308,463 in 1941, A. T. Mercier, president, said today in the pamphlet report covering the year. The reduction was accomplished by retirements and acquisition.

Net reduction in debt was only $4,883,463, however, due to the issuance of equipment trust certificates and serial bank loans.

The system expenditures for road extensions, betterments and additions totaled $34,368,489 in 1941, against $12,778,559 in 1940.

SEC Traces Income Record Of 1495 Firms

By the Associated Press

Philadelphia, May 12.—The total annual average net income of 1495 American corporations reached $2,687,000,000 during 1935-359, equal to 7 per cent of the stockholders' equity in the group, the Securities and Exchange Commission reported today.

The second part of a survey of American Listed Corporations, a Works Project Administration study sponsored by the SEC, showed that the year 1937 marked the high point in earnings for all the registered corporations, with a net group income of $3,383,000,000. This represented a return of 8.6 per cent on the stockholders' equity at book value.

Two Other Good Years

The commission said, however, that 1936 and 1939 were profitable years for more companies than 1937 since 1279 companies reported net income in 1936 and 1210 in 1939, as compared with 1209 in 1937.

In 1938, the study showed, one-third of the 1495 registrants reported net losses. Fo rall registrants, aggregate annual net income increased 44 per cent in 1936, jumped another 7 per cent in 1937, dropped 44 per cent in 1938 and increased 49 per cent in 1939.

The study does not cover 1940 and 1941, when many large corporations were engaged in defense work, nor the period since the United States entered into the war.

Dividends declared by the companies for the five-year period amounted to $19,297,000,000, equal to 77 per cent of the firms' combined net income. Of the total dividends, 97 per cent was paid in cash and 18 per cent represented preferred stock dividends.

Most Dividends in 1937

The highest combined dividend payments, $2,546,000,000, was made in 1937, followed by $2,334,000,000 in 1936; $1,977,000,000 in 1939; $1,652,000,000 in 1938 and $1,370,000,000 in 1935.

Aggregate total assets of the 1495 registrants increased by $2,869,000,000, or 4.9 per cent, through 1935-39, "although the 1939 total was $6,111,000,000 (or 1 per cent) below that reported at the 1937 year-end." The total assets of the group was $61,558,000,000 at the end of 1939.

The aggregate assets of the group increased $1,654,000,000 in 1936 and jumped $1,827,000,000 in 1937. A decline of $1,486,000,000 was shown in 1938 which, the study said, "was partially offset by an increase of $874,000,000 in 1939."

Late Earnings Statements

Sterling Products, Inc., reported for the March quarter net profit of $2,667,810, equal to $1.53 a capital share, against $3,250,194, or $1.86 a share, in the like months of 1941.

Hudson Motor Car Co. announced net profit in the March quarter was $201,195, equal to 13 cents a capital share, against $22,337, or one cent a share, in the first three months of 1941.

Ohio Oil Co. and subsidiaries for the quarter ended March 31 reported net profit of $2,953,075 after provision for Federal income taxes, equal, after preferred dividend requirements, to 40 cents a common share. This compared with $1,933,772, or 22 cents a common share in the 1941 March quarter. Provision for taxes was $1,247,875 in the 1942 quarter against $344,237 in the like 1941 period.

New York, May 12 (AP).—Business failures in the week ended May 7 totaled 216, up 9 per cent from the previous week, most of the increase occurring in the retail trade division, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

The week's aggregate compared with 248 in the corresponding week of 1941 and brought the 1942 total to date to 4135 against 4938 in the like period of last year.

Final prices for wheat were ⅛ to ⅜ cents under the previous close: May, 1.21⅝; July, 1.24½-1.24⅝, and September 1.26½. Corn closed unchanged to ⅛ lower; May, 87½; July, 90-90½; oats, ⅛ to ¼ higher; rye, 1 to 1¼ lower; soybeans, 1 to 2 cents off, and lard unchanged at the ceiling levels.

'Battle Front' Orders First, Industry Told

By the Associated Press

New York, May 12.—Leading manufacturers of the Nation today were told that the need for steel and iron in war production was so great that some orders, previously considered for war purposes, were being shelved for "battle front" orders.

More than 1000 industry executives jammed a meeting here as War Production Board heads declared that in order to "keep General MacArthur in business" every manufacturer and every citizen must make the sacrifices required by the war effort.

"The question is no longer 'what civilian uses of iron and steel can be saved?'" said Charles Halcomb, assistant chief of WPB's iron and steel branch. "It is 'What war uses that were considered necessary in the past can be dispensed with today to provide the steel which is necessary for the immediate requirements of the battle front?'

"Offensives are being planned. To make them successful we cannot waste a pound of iron or steel."

Halcomb said the call for iron and steel products had advanced to such a stage that it had become mandatory to do two things:

1. Set up a strict control of the production and distribution of steel and iron through a system that is somewhat similar to that of bank credit.

2. To prohibit, through order M-126, the use of 1 pound of iron or steel for any purpose that is not directly connected with, or vital to, the successful conduct of the war.

At the present time, he said, there is a total rated demand for steel products of approximately 117 per cent of maximu mcapacity.

The meeting was held under the sponsorship of the American Trade Association, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the New York Trade Association and the National Industrial Council of the National Association of Manufacturers.

U. S. Meat Stocks Slump on Heavy Lend-Lease Outgo

Reflecting shipment of large quantities to Great Britain and Russia, cold storage stocks of frozen and cured meats declined 154,700,000 pounds during the past 12 months.

The Agriculture Department, reporting this yesterday, said stocks of meats on May 1 totaled 811,362,000 pounds compared with 966,081,000 on the corresponding date last year. However, the May 1 stocks were slightly larger than the 1937-41 average of 787,666,000 pounds.

The May 1 stocks included 126,347,000 pounds of beef, 570,817,000 pounds of pork, and 114,198,000 pounds of lamb, mutton and other meats.

Stocks of lard likewise declined sharply. At 321 million pounds on May 1 a year ago, they had dropped to 120,392,000 pounds on the same date this year.

Timid Profit Taking Blocks Recovery Swing; Pivotal Issues Retreat in Light Turnover

New York, May 12.—The recovery swing met opposition in today's market and leaders generally backed away fractions to a point or so. Dealings were too light to make the reaction of much importance, brokers said, and blame for the retreat was placed mainly on timid profit taking after more than two weeks' virtually uninterrupted rally.

The list developed considerable hesitancy at the start, with recently climbing steels and motors giving ground. While scattered plus signs were sprinkled over the ticker tape at the close, depressed stocks finished near the day's bottoms.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was off .2 of a point at 34. Transfers totaled 249,200 shares compared with 290,650 the day before.

In addition to cashing in on the lengthy upturn, optimism over the war news seemed to have faded to a certain degree as a market stimulant. Many customers also stood aside to await further Federal economic restrictions and more light on the forthcoming tax program.

Republic Steel dipped 1⅛ points to a new 1942 low when directors declared a 25-cent dividend against 50 cents paid in April. Conservation of working capital for possible wage and tax emergencies was the reason given for the cut.

Twentieth Century-Fox was the liviest performer, turning over in blocks of 1000 to 6000 shares and ending unchanged at 9½.

In new low ground for the year were Bath Iron Works, Philco Corp., General Steel Castings preferred and New York Air Brake.

Losers included United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, American Can, Westinghouse, General Foods, Pepsi-Cola, Douglas Aircraft, U. S. Rubber, Chrysler, General Motors, Great Northern, Dupont, Kennecott, Texas Co. and Standard Oil (N. J.).

Holding small plus marks were American Telephone, American Smelting, Dow Chemical, Celanese, Loew's, American Tobacco "B", Standard Brands, Sears Roebuck, Philip Morris and Phelps Dodge.

Bonds trailed along with stocks. At Chicago wheat was off ⅛ to ⅝ of a cent a bushel, corn unchanged to down ⅜ and hogs steady. Cotton lost 40 to 60 cents a bale.

On the upside in an uneven curb were Lake Shore, American Gas, Glen Alden Coal and Pennroad. Slightly in arrears were Humble Oil, American Cyanamid, Pittsburgh Plate Glass and Republic Aviation. Volume here aggregated 53,680 shares versus 42,855 Monday.

Named to Rail Board

New York, May 12 (AP).—William R. Coe, sr., has been elected chairman of the board of Virginian Railway, it was announced today. He succeed the late Adrian H. Larkin.

National Power To Submit Revised Dissolution Plan

New York, May 12 (AP).—Officers of the National Power and Light Co. said today they would submit to the Securities and Exchange Commission a modified plan for compliance with the commissions dissolution order of last August.

"Pursuant to the terms of the order," P. B. Sawyer, president, said in the company's annual report, "the officers of National submitted a tentative plan to the commission on October 13, 1941.

"Since then several steps have been taken to put the tentative plan into effect, but other items in it have been made impracticable by the war and its economic consequences. Therefore, National is filing with the commission a plan which reports progress made and modifies certain provisions of the October plan."

SEC permission has been requested by the company to obtain aid of a Nation-wide group of security dealers in order to facilitate further exchange.

Net income of the company was $3,810,178 in 1941, equal, after preferred dividend requirements, to 39 cents a common share, compared with $5,255,272, or 65 cents a common share, in 1940.

WPB Creates Construction Priority Unit

By the Associated Press

The War Production Board announced yesterday establishment of a construction bureau to handle all applications for construction priorities.

The bureau, which is part of the production division, will be headed by William V. Kahler, on leave from his position as chief engineer of the Chicago area of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. Since May, 1941, Kahler has been head of the WPB's construction branch.

The new bureau will be required to service all construction essential to the war effort, recommend construction project ratings, apply principles of conservation to materials used in construction and administer WPB orders placing all private construction under Government control.

WPB said the bureau would work closely with industry and with Government agencies to eliminate construction delays and assure that completion dates on essential projects are met.

Stannard Heads Housing Officials

Baltimore, May 12 (AP).—Paul L. Stannard of Cleveland was elected chairman of the National Association of Housing Officials at its tenth annual meeting yesterday.

John Kervick of Elizabeth, N. J., was named vice chairman, and R. K. Creighton, Raleigh, N. C., Franklin Thoine, Washington and Finley Vinson of Corpus Christi, Tex., executive committeemen.

A new procedure determining rents in Federal Housing projects was outlined by Lee F. Johnson, assistant management commissioner of the FHA.

Johnson said that rents in Federal projects would be based on property value and maintenance cost instead of wage scales, which heretofore have been the basis for computing rents.

Rank of U. S. Norse Mission Is Raised

The United States diplomatic representation to Norway has been raised from a legation to an embassy as a recognition of the importance which the Government attaches to the "unrelenting resistance" of the Norwegians to "the vicious German invaders," it was announced yesterday.

President Roosevelt sent to the Senate the nomination of Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, jr., present Minister to Norway, to be Ambassador to the refugee government, the headquarters of which are now in London.

The Senate confirmed this and also an earlier nomination of Biddle as Ambassador to the Netherlands, where the U. S. Legation was also raised to an embassy last week. Biddle is now Ambassador to the governments in exile of Poland, Norway, the Netherlands and Belgium, as well as being Minister to Jugoslavia, Greece, Czecho-Slovakia and Luxembourg.

The State Department said that the elevation of the rank of the United States mission to the refugee government of Norway was intended to mark America's appreciation of the role which "Norwegian men, women and even children" were playing in resistance to German tyranny.

"For two years the annals of the age-old struggle of free men to preserve their liberties have been enriched by the heroic feats of Norwegian men, women and even children in their unrelenting resistance to the vicious German invaders who now occupy their country.

"Assailed from without by overwhelming military force and betrayed from within by a handful of traitors headed by a man whose very name has become synonymous with perfidy, the Norwegian people and their King have nevertheless been unfalterable in their determination to restore their freedom.

"Accordingly, as an indication of the importance which this Government attributes to the participation of the Norwegian government and of Norwegians throughout the world in the war effort of the United Nations, the President has proposed to the King of Norway that henceforth the two countries exchange diplomatic representatives with the rank of Ambassador. The King of Norway having agreed to the President's proposal, the President has today sent to the Senate the nomination of the Honorable Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, jr., who has twice served as American Minister to Norway, as first Ambassador of the United States near the government of Norway."

The Norwegian Minister to the United States, Wilhelm Munthe Morgenstierne will become Ambassador. He was represented his country at Washington for eight years. Before that he had been Norwegian consul general at New York for five years.

S. Hurok presents Les Ballets Russes de Monte Carlo in the National Theater on Tuesday night. Program: "The Nutcracker" (Chaikovski) with Mia Slavenska and Igor Yuskevich as principal dancers; "The Specter of the Rose" (Weber) with George Zorich and Natalia Krasovska as principal dancers; "Spanish Caprice" (Rimski-Korsakov) with Leonid Miassin and Natalia Krasovska as principal dancers.

Chaikovski's familiar "Nutcracker" opened the second bill of Les Ballets Russes de Monte Carlo last evening in the National Theater which resounded frequently with the plaudits of an enthusiastic spectience — the proper designation for an assemblage of those who look and pay very little attention to what they hear. One would be willing to wager that few noticed as strange passages the bits of the music that are not included in the orchestral suite drawn from the ballet score. Chaikovski would not mind this in the least, for he had practically nothing to say in this music which is pretty and tuneful, occasionally fantastic, and always graceful.

Brown

All the weirdness was extracted from E. T. A. Hoffmann's tale of the nutcracker and the mouse king when Ivanov used it as the basis for the ballet. The first scene at the Christmas party creaks a little as the obvious mechanism to introduce the dream journey into fairyland, and there are other moments when the continuity sags for want of motivation. Yet the magic of the dancing snowflakes cannot be denied, and the divertissements in the second act have a humorous stimulation. Mia Slavenska won deserved honors with her glamorous appearance and technical ease as the Snow Queen, and her capable dancing partner was Igor Yuskevich.

Of the many adaptations to which Carl Maria von Weber's "Invitation to the Dance" has been submitted, none is more imbued with the spirit of romanticism than Mikhail Fokin's choreographic version, "The Specter of the Rose." Presenting as it does the dream of a girl who returns from her first ball radiant with happiness and yet so weary as to fall asleep holding a rose given by an admirer, it has a singular loveliness. Natalia Krasovska was an appealing personification of the maiden, and George Zorich danced the part of the spectral rose with an enviable mastery of muscular grace.

Leonid Miassin made his appearance late in the program as the gypsy companion of Mia Slavenska in Rimski-Korsakov's "Spanish Caprice." When this ballet was seen here before in Constitution Hall without scenery, it failed of its ultimate artistic effect. Properly staged last evening, it offered an excellent series of genre pictures, colorful, animated and captivating.

U. S. Seizes 10 In War Stamps Counterfeiting

By the Associated Press

New York, May 12.—Secret Service agents announced today the arrest of 10 men and the seizure of plates and 210,000 unperforated stamps in what was described as the first roundup of alleged war savings stamps counterfeiters in the Nation.

The stamps were of the 25-cent denomination and would have had a true value of $52,500, the agents said.

James J. Maloney, supervising agent of the New York division of the Secret Service, said a special detail of agents in cooperation with postal inspectors had trailed the gang since last February. The men were arrested in various parts of the city.

"We let them go as long as we could, in order to get them all," Maloney said. "We believe that when we made the arrests, the ring was ready to launch its sale of the counterfeit stamps, which I have no doubt was to have been conducted on a Nation-wide scale."

The Secret Service made public the names of six of those arrested, who were listed as follows: Abraham Perkes, 48; his brother, Joseph Perkes, 49; Harry Horowitz, 59, alias Harry Hale; Louis Samouski, 34, alias Louis Sommers; Abraham Glickstein, 44, alias Al Stone, and Morris Rubin, 49, all of New York City.

Maloney said that the other four men were lesser fry who were to have acted as passers of the stamps.

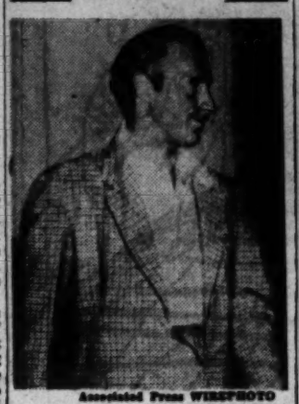
The Secret Service asserted that the Perkes brothers were the makers of the counterfeiting plates which contained 25 impressions of the 25-cent war stamps. Horowitz was charged with having printed the stamps, and Maloney said it was at his establishment that the 210,000 stamps were seized.

Maloney received a congratulatory message from Frank J. Wilson, chief of the Secret Service in Washington, which extended Wilson's "highest commendation to every agent in your office and to postal inspectors and police for their tireless work in capturing the defense stamps counterfeit ring."

Secretary Morgenthau also expressed "deep satisfaction" at the breakup of the ring through Wilson.

First Quarrel

Salesman Confesses Killing Bride



Associated Press WIREPHOTO
NATHANIEL BALLENBERG,

By the Associated Press

New York, May 12. — A prosperous young furniture salesman today confessed he killed his pretty bride and left her body in a pool of blood because he "felt an urge" to strike and strangle her at the height of their first quarrel.

Nathaniel Ballenberg, 33, walked into a police station 12 hours after Ruth, his bride of 17 months, was found clad in a flimsy negligee, bruised and scratched, face down between their twin beds, and said:

"I'm the one! I did it! I did it!"

"We had an argument, our first," Ballenberg explained. "It was just one of those things. Suddenly I felt an urge to punch and choke her. She fell between the beds and lay still."

Ballenberg was held without bail on a homicide charge.

Between the time he killed his wife, changed his clothes to a frayed brown and tan sports outfit and left the flat, Ballenberg said he wandered around streets and subways trying to screw up his courage to commit suicide.

"I went down into the subway and looked at the deadly third rail," he said, twisting his waxed mustache.

"I wanted to jump but I got cold feet. I got on a train and rode to another station. Still I didn't have the nerve."

Mrs. Ballenberg's body was discovered by friends who called to find out why she had missed a regular meeting of a mah-johng club.

Earlier in the day she had telephoned Ballenberg's father that his son was at home but refused to get out of bed. Because of Ballenberg's melancholia and extreme nervousness he had agreed to accompany his wife to a psychiatrist yesterday.

Public Welfare Grant Ceiling Is Opposed

The House District Committee's amendments to the District budget which would fix a "ceiling" on public welfare grants and abolish the post of assistant director of public welfare were opposed yesterday in a resolution by the steering committee of the Child Welfare Division of the Council of Social Agencies.

The action of the Child Welfare Division's steering committee concurred with action Monday by the District Commissioners and the Board of Public Welfare. Commissioner Young has announced that every effort will be made to have the Senate restore the cuts proposed by the House committee.

The Child Welfare Division's committee pointed out in its resolution that since creation of the post of assistant of public welfare in 1941, Miss Gay Shepperson, who holds the post, "has actually directed all institutions of the Board of Public Welfare except the Home for the Aged and penal institutions."

The institutions under the direction of Miss Shepperson include the National Training School for Girls, the District Training School, Industrial Home School, Industrial Home School for Colored Children and the Receiving Home for Children.

The proposed "ceiling" on public assistance grants, specified by the House bill, would deprive the Board of Public Welfare of the opportunity to administer relief on the basis of need.

Takoma Park Soldier Badly Hurt in Accident

Private David C. Nellis, U. S. A. Engineer Corps, 25, stationed in Hawaii, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Nellis, 255 Cedar Avenue, Takoma Park, Md., has been critically injured in an automobile accident according to notification from the War Department.

NELLIS

His wife, Mrs. Ruth Anne Nellis, a school teacher in Maysville, W. Va., was notified of the accident by the War Department. The telegram stated the injury was diagnosed as a fractured skull and that he is in a hospital in Hawaii.

NRA's Robbie Reveals She Wed Secretly

MRS. JAMES B. NEWMAN, Jr.
The Former Frances M. Robinson

Frances M. (Robbie) Robinson, America's most famous secretary when she was the late Gen. Hugh Johnson's "right hand" in NRA days, is now the wife of an Army officer, it was learned last night.

She was secretly married December 27, 1941, to Col. James Bryan Newman, jr., U. S. A., an engineer officer attached to the Air Corps. She is 38 and he is 45. They are making their home at the Wardman Park Hotel.

"What I am most proud of," said Robbie last night just before she caught a plane for New York, "is that I now have two sons in West Point."

She explained that Col. Newman was a widower. His oldest son, James B. Newman, 3d, is to be graduated from West Point on May 29. The other son, Robert W., is a first-year cadet at The Point. Both boys attended the wedding ceremony in Martinsburg, W. Va.

The former Miss Robinson was still General Johnson's secretary at the time of the wedding, helping him with his newspaper column and other research. Apparently she kept her wedding a secret from him as well as from the world in general.

"If he were alive, you newspapermen wouldn't know anything about it," she said last night.

A mite of a girl, only 5 feet tall in her French heels, "Robbie" became almost as well known as Gen. Johnson in the Blue Eagle era. Her salary skyrocketed from $25 a week to $6800 a year, but even her critics admitted that she was able. Working as furiously as her boss, taking dictation from him even in airplanes, she lost 30 pounds. Gov. Ruby Lafoon made her a Kentucky colonel, and Sculptor Reuben Nakian made a bust of her, saying, "She has the wisdom of a Portia and the devotion of a Ruth."

A native of Evanston, Ill., and educated in the Sacred Heart Convent in New York City, "Robbie" came to Washington with the vanguard of the New Dealers after working in the Roosevelt headquarters in New York during the campaign of 1932. Asked last night how she met Col. Newman, she said:

"I wasn't looking for him. He just fell into my lap."

The meeting, she explained, took place in the home of Col. F. Munson Corbett when the latter was executive officer at Walter Reed Hospital. She wouldn't tell how she managed to keep the wedding a secret so long, but she gave Martinsburg full credit.

"Bless Martinsburg," she said, laughing. "I'll always love that town."

Chinese Fight For Free Mind, Hu Shih Says

China will fight Japan to the end because the Chinese people "do not wish to be dominated by a people who condemn all thinking as dangerous," Dr. Hu Shih, Chinese Ambassador to the United States, declared last night.

Speaking at a dinner sponsored by the Institute on World Organization at the Cosmos Club, Dr. Hu traced the history of the struggle for intellectual freedom in China and related it to the present international situation.

"My people," said Dr. Hu "are fighting this terribly hard war because my people have always regarded doubt as a virtue and criticism as a right."

These beliefs, he pointed out, are not a part of Japanese philosophy, and therefore China must never be subjugated by Japan.

Refers to Chinese Wisdom

Referring to the essence of ancient Chinese thought which allied his people with the democracies of the world, Dr. Hu held out an old Chinese motto to more than 100 guests assembled at the club. He advised:

"Approach every subject in the spirit of doubt; seek the truth; and do not compromise."

Other speakers were Dr. Waldo G. Leland, director of the American Council of Learned Societies, who presided; Dr. Halvdan Koht, former Norwegian Minister of Foreign Affairs; Charles A. Thomson, chief of the division of cultural relations of the Department of State, and Dr. Paul F. Douglas, president of American University.

Intellectual Freedom Stressed

Dr. Leland, who opened the discussion, stressed intellectual freedom as the most important of the freedoms for which this war is being fought.

"The search for truth must be unhampered," he said. "Full intellectual freedom must be accorded those who are able to throw light upon the problems that we are striving to solve. For it is the truth that shall make us free."

Dr. Koht stressed the need for international cooperation after the war. What we are fighting for and what we are looking forward to, he said, are "freedom and solidarity—the watchwords of the future.'

Speaking on "Intellectual Freedom as a Basis for World Understanding," Thomson pointed to the Norwegian bishops and Chinese who refused to yield their rights in the face of oppression as "living proofs that intellectual freedom is the basis of our cultures."

Dr. Douglas urged the continuance and widening of the policy of inviting exiled scholars to study and teach in this country and said American University has been a leader in this field.

"These men," he declared, "have brought us precise and marvelously informed minds. They know that you and I and they and all of us are going to construct the world of the free spirit . . . that last full hope of heaven."

"Victory Volunteers," a new organization whose insignia is a double "V," is being formed to promote civilian cooperation in war needs by Arthur Godfrey through his C. B. S. program, "Victory Begins at Home," which you hear over WJSV every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 11 a. m.

For the next few weeks on each of his thrice-weekly programs Godfrey is to seek to enlist at least one person in every community—and in large cities, one person in every block—to act as captain and recruit as many neighbors as possible in the Double "V" campaign. The captains are to circulate petitions stating the aims of the new organization among their neighbors.

The purpose of the "Victory Volunteers" is to form an active group of Nation-wide scope to cooperate closely with the U. S. Government in ration problems; to urge people to talk less about news which might find its way to enemy ears; to assign 10 per cent of their income for the purchase of War Bonds and to pledge themselves to drive automobiles only on necessary trips. Other purposes of the organization are to be outlined by Godfrey on the programs as the needs arise.

Petitions signed by the volunteers are to be forwarded to Godfrey in Washington, D. C. He, in turn, is to have each of them signed by a high-ranking Government official and returned to the sender for framing as a charter to be hung in community gathering places.

Contract Bridge

Frank B. Lord, bridge writer, won for the third time the McIntyre Cup, one of the major trophies of the National Press Club, at the clubrooms in Washington recently. His partner was Oliver Hoyem, whose victory made him twice winner of the event. Runners-up were William J. Hogan, jr., and J. P. Snyder.

The cup, which is put in play annually, was donated by Col. M. H. McIntyre, one of the Presidential secretaries and a member of the club.

Only the membership, which includes no women, was permitted to participate in the contest. A special game was arranged for the women guests for a club prize. Mrs. Hoyem, wife of the cowinner of the McIntyre trophy, was the first with her partner, Mrs. Jack Bennett.

Also put into play this week was the handsome silver trophy presented by the Mexican Ambassador, who has frequently visited the club. According to Mr. Lord, the Ambassador is considered one of the most skillful players among the diplomats in Washington.

Another skillful player is Bert Andrews, chief of the New York Herald Tribune bureau in Washington. In one of the Press Club's rubber bridge games he managed to bid and make six diamonds, with an overtrick, on a freak hand. His cards were all red except for a singleton spade. The cards and bidding, with neither side vulnerable and South dealer.

	♠ A Q 9 8 5 ♡ 5 ◇ 7 5 4 2 ♣ Q 8 7
♠ J 6 4 ♡ 8 7 6 ◇ J 9 ♣ K J 5 3 2	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠ K 10 7 2 ♡ K J 4 ◇ 3 ♣ A 10 9 6 4
	♠ 3 ♡ A Q 10 9 3 3 ◇ A K Q 10 8 4 ♣ none

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 ◇	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♡	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
5 ◇	Pass	6 ◇	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

The opening lead was a low club, which declarer duffed when East played the ace. The opponents' trumps were drawn and dummy was reached by a spade to the ace. Now declarer led the five of hearts and finessed the queen, played East for the guarded king for the double. He then cashed the ace and trumped a low heart in dummy, catching the king. This was something of a surprise, as he expected the hearts to be bunched with East because of his own freak distribution. The cards in his hand were now all high, and he claimed his contract, six diamonds, doubled, with an extra trick.

Woodley 'Quints' Are Really 'Trips'

Abingdon, England, May 12 (INS).—The prematurely famed Woodley quintuplets finally turned up today two short.

Triplet boys were born to Mrs. Emily Woodley, 28, and her soldier husband, Pvt. Arthur Woodley, on the fifth anniversary of King George XI's coronation. It also was just five years after the birth of the first child, John. Medical reports prior to the birth had indicated that quintuplets or at least quadruplets were on their way.
